

OPEN BREAK BETWEEN HOOVER AND SENATE LOOMS AS PRESIDENT CRITICIZES OPPOSITION

Educators To Meet Russell Today On Special Session

BRITAIN, DUGGAN, SNELLING TO MEET AT WINDER OFFICE

Delegation, Representing All State Educational Institutions, To Get Governor-Elect's Views.

PLAN TO DIVERT HIGHWAY FUNDS

Plan To Borrow "Temporarily," $5,500,000 From Board Reported Already Indorsed by Solons.

BY R. E. POWELL.

Three men representing the "educational interests" of Georgia will visit Winder this morning to confer with Governor-elect Richard B. Russell, Jr., and come on to Atlanta this afternoon to discuss with Governor Hardman the agenda for a special session of the legislature.

They are Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia School of Technology; Charles M. Snelling, chancellor of the University of Georgia, and M.
L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools. The three men were appointed at a meeting in Athens last week at which heads or representatives of all the state's educational institutions were present.

Plan Highway Diversion.
With the special session accepted
now as inevitable, and with Governor Hardman planning to make personal investigations this week in order to give the lawmakers first-hand information about the state's financial crisis, interest over the state turned Tuesday to one absorbing topic:

Where will the money come from?
Already, according to reports current about the state capital, a legislative maneuver has been considered by which $5,500,000 of highway funds would be diverted "temporarily" to provide the relief which authorities generally deem necessary if institutions are not to close for want of maintenance funds.

But any such effort, however worthy the cause for diversion, is certain to meet a determined and apparently effective opposition. It became quite evident Tuesday it must hurdle the tremendously high barrier which the gubernatorial primary last September put up. The run-over between Governor-elect Russell and Secretary of State George H. Carswell was then, and is now, regarded as "a solemn referendum" upon the question of diverting highway funds to payment of the state debt.

Expect Russell Aid.
It is generally understood in political circles that the educational conference at Athens, which decided to send the committee to interview Governor-elect Russell this morning as to his views, and then accept Governor Hardman's invitation for a conference this afternoon, arrived at no definite program to offer the legislators.

Relief, however, has been expressed that they will find the governor-elect sympathetic with their purposes and not inclined either to initiate any stumbling tactics or to permit his legislative friends to stand in the way of any program which may provide a remedy for the situation so long as there is no encroachment upon the gas tax now going to the highway fund.

State officialdom continued to show only an apathetic interest in the reorganization plan which has been outlined for the governor by Secord, Miller and Company, New York business engineers. They are encouraged in the reflection that a very similar plan one offered by the Ivan Allen company.

Atlanta P. O. Gains Lead Large Cities

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(P)— Atlanta showed the only material gain in postal receipts during November in 50 cities for which reports were compiled by the post-office department.

The Georgia metropolis receipts jumped from $393,370.77 in November of last year to $410,223.86 this year, a gain of 6.57 per cent.

Houston was the only other one of the 50 cities to report an increase, its gain being only .04 per cent, or from $182,064.78 to $182-145.97.

PRISONER DIES IN 5-FLOOR JUMP AT FULTON TOWER

Arthur W. Mays, Held as Prohibition Law Violator, Leaps to His Death in Jail.

Darting away from his guard as he was about to be locked in a cellblock on the fifth floor of Fulton county jail Tuesday afternoon, Arthur W. Mays, 57, who gave his address as 571 Ashby street, S. W., leaped over the railing of the top floor of the tower and plunged to instant death in the corridor below.

Mays, according to jail officials, had been arrested earlier in the day
by United States Deputy Marshals Goode and Dantzer on a charge of violating the national prohibition law.
He was turned over to county author-ties pending arraignment before Commissioner E. S. Griffith.

Deputy Sheriff S. C. Davies said he had taken the prisoner to the fifth floor and that he had displayed no indication of intention to kill himself.
He had escorted him to the door of one of the cell-blocks, he said, and was in the act of unlocking the door when Mays suddenly tore away from him and ran to the railing that borders the walk-way around the various tiers of cells.

Davies said he shouted to the man,
but the latter ran away and leaped from the railing into the "well" of the jail below. He struck on his head and died instantly.

Mays admitted a plea of "business depression" before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith Tuesday afternoon. He was sent to the tower in lieu of a $500 bail.

He operated a small store at 82
McDonough road, and according to undisputed testimony, sold J. W. Cole, prohibition agent, a soft drink bottle of "mixed" liquor for 45 cents. A day or so later he sold the agent a quart for $1.50. Tuesday, federal court and city officers raided the store and seized still another lone quart.

Cole testified about "drumming up"
the sale, explaining that when Mays asked him if he was "the law," he replied: "If you think I am, don't sell it to me."

Mays admitted the officers' story, told the court that it was about as accurate as he could relate it, and declared he was sorry. And in conclusion
he said:

"But times are pretty hard, judge."

Air Leaders of Nation Are Here to Open New Route Today; Brilliant Dinner of Presidents Club Launches Ceremonies

Walter F. Brown, Postmaster General, Tops List of Notables.

BY GENE HINTON.

Constitution Aviation Editor.
Five great airplanes, barbers of an era, of aviation development now in its earliest stages and loaded to the guards with government officials, business leaders and aviation executives, dropped on Candler field Tuesday afternoon to make aeronautical history for Atlanta.

The quietest of air monsters—one Kingbird, one Ford, one Fokker and two Condors, all multi-motored craft —were sent here by Eastern Air Transport, Inc., to transport notables to Atlanta for the inaugural flight at 7:45 o'clock this morning of the company's new New York-Atlanta mail and passenger line.

One of the largest crowds to witness an aviation event here in years was on hand for the arrival of the fleet.
All a suitable parking space alongside the newly paved road leading into the airport was taken by the cars of spectators, while "official" autos, in readiness to carry the distinguished guests into Atlanta, completely filled the open space between the two central hangars.

The first plane to arrive, a Curtiss Kingbird, carrying the Spartanburg contingent, roared over the airport at exactly 3:30 o'clock, the entire fleet having been delayed somewhat by the almost too-enthusiastic greeting which was extended the aerial voyagers all along the route. The honor of flying the first ship went to J. Ben Fuller, who formerly was manager of the local branch of the company when it was known as Pictorial Aviation, Inc.

Ten minutes later a Curtiss Condor, tremendous Curtiss product, loaded down with a galaxy of notables, was landed by Pilot P. W. Parker and Co-pilot H. A. Elliott, vice president and operations manager of Eastern Air Transport. Passengers in the huge plane included Postmaster-General
Walter F. Brown, Captain Thomas B.
Doe, president of E. A. T.; Frederic
G. Coburn, president of American Airways, Inc.; James M. Harper, northwestern division traffic manager, Eastern Air Transport, Inc., and a group of
New York and Washington newspapermen.

The third plane to reach the airport, another Curtiss Condor, was a Ford trimotor of American Airways, which brought Robert J. Smith, general traffic manager, American Airways, Inc.; Doyle M. Harper, northwestern division traffic manager, Eastern Air Transport, Inc., and a group of
New York and Washington newspapermen.

The final two planes to reach the airport during the afternoon came in together—another Curtiss Condor, down by Frank H. Jerdone, as pilot, and our own Doug Davis as co-pilot, and a Fokker trimotor, lent to the expedition by the local base of American Airways, Inc., and flown here from Spartanburg by Jimmie Ingram and Joe Leomis.

In the Condor were Ralph S. West-ing, general traffic manager of West-ing Air Transport, Inc., and Mrs.
Westing; Graham B. Grosvenor, vice president of the Aviation Corporation, and Mrs. Grosvenor; Carl Doyle, publisher of the Havana Post, and Mrs.
Doyle; Thomas A. Morgan, president of the Sperry Gyroscope Company, and Mrs. Morgan; C. S. "Casey" Jones,
Western United States navy, retired.

Four other members of the fleet,
three Curtiss Kingbirds and the third Condor—arrived at the airport after dark. Carrying no passengers and brought here for the purpose of carrying additional guests back to New York today, state pilots decided to take their time and arrive after the fare had subsided somewhat.

Little time was taken up at the field in welcoming ceremonies, although municipal officials and aviation leaders were there in abundance.

Leaders in the development of commercial aviation in the United States, here for the opening today of the new passenger service route between Atlanta and New York, which is to be launched by the Eastern Air Transport, Inc., are shown above as they were being entertained
Tuesday night by the Presidents Club at a banquet at the Piedmont Driving Club. In the top photograph are Howard E. Coffin, J. Cheever
Cowan and A. M. Hoagland, standing, and Mr. and Mrs. John K. Ottley, Jr., Thomas A. Morgan and Mrs. George McCarthy, Jr., seated. The

MACON MAN FOUND PAID CARPENTER, DEAD BY OWN HAND WITNESS ASSERTS

Martin Burghard, of Prominent Georgia Family, Suicides at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(P)—The body of Martin Calhoun Burghard, of Macon, Ga., was found today in his garret room on Massachusetts avenue with a flexible pipe about his neck from which gas was flowing.

Physicians estimated he had been dead 15 hours when found after noon.
He left a note to a friend, Oscar Hirschberg, saying he intended taking his life.

He recently failed to pass an examination for the consular service and was said to have been depressed since.

BURGHARD HAD BRILLIANT RECORD AT MERCER

MACON, Ga., Dec. 9.—(P)—Martin
Calhoun Burghard, whose body was found today in his room in Washington, D. C., was the son of Mrs. M. Frances Burghard here, state editor of the W. C. T. U. His father, August Burghard, died several years ago.

He graduated from Mercer University in 1925 with L. L. B. and A. B. degrees. He had been active in many phases of campus life. He founded the Mercer University chapter of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, and was founder of the Mercer Players. In 1922 he was class testator, Society
Day orator, and member of the Cicero.

Piedmont Driving Club Is Scene of Initial Phase of City's Part in Inaugural.

"Atlanta will be the hub of aviation east of the Mississippi river if it digs in and makes the most of its opportunities."

This was the opinion expressed by no less an authority on aviation operations than Walter F. Brown, postmaster general of the United States, at the aviation banquet which was tendered Tuesday night by the Presidents' Club of Atlanta at the Piedmont Driving Club to the aviation executives, government officials and business leaders who gathered here earlier in the day Tuesday for the inaugural flight at 7:45 o'clock this morning of Eastern Air Transport's new New York-Atlanta air mail and passenger line.

Postmaster Brown declared that he had the complete cooperation of air mail operators throughout the country in changing the department's system under the provisions of the Waters bill and that the provision of the bill compelling aviation operators to carry passengers would do more to encourage aeronautics in this country than any other piece of legislation ever before passed by congress.

"Successful military operations will never be achieved in this country without the development of the commercial system," Mr. Brown said.
"Through passenger lines and flying schools, there are now more than 2,000 commercial fliers in the country."

J. T. Rose Confers With Brown Here

The immediate future of republican politics in Georgia was the subject of a prolonged conversation late Tuesday night between Postmaster General Walter F. Brown—foremost of President Hoover's reigning triumvirate on patronage matters—and Joseph T. Rose, collector of internal revenue for Georgia.

Mr. Rose was among those who assisted in "launching" the New York and Atlanta air passenger line Tuesday night at the Piedmont Driving Club. After the dance, the Georgia collector and the postmaster general went into session and it was understood that the charges against Henry C. Davis, publisher of the Georgia Republican, would be considered.

Neither would make a statement.

Mayor Walker Driven From Office—By Gas

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(P)—There was some gunplay in Mayor Walker's office today, with Chief City Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan at the trigger and his victims in tears.

Some football writers were con-fering with the mayor about the impending Army-Navy football game when Mr. Corriggan entered the reception room of the mayoral chambers at city hall, sat down and took out a cigaret. As he did so he accidentally discharged a fountain pen tear gas gun in his pocket.

STATE WILL USE $10,000,000 U. S. AID ON HIGHWAYS

Speeding Up of Road Work Between Now and
July 1 Is on Georgia Program.

Georgia is prepared to use $10-000,000 of federal aid funds in highway construction between now and July 1, officials of the department have advised the United States bureau of public roads in reply to telegraphic inquiries made in connection with the administration's efforts to speed up public building, waterway and road construction.

Assuming that there will be no legislative diversion of the gas tax fund, as is advocated in some quarters, the Georgia highway department has advised Washington that it can use $4-500,000 at once in connection with the state's already adopted program.
The estimate of using $10,000,000 between now and July 1 is predicted, also, on the assumption that there will be no legislative interference with the highway program.

Georgia's part of the $80,000,000
"speed-up" fund, which received favorable action from a congressional committee, will be $2,118,000, officials here have been advised. The prospect that federal funds allocated heretofore to other states may be absorbed and redistributed in states where intensive road programs are under way was suggested also in Washington inquiries received here.

It was explained Tuesday that the $10,000,000 expenditure before July is in line with the present program.
About $4,500,000 in contracts already has been let, with the more than $2,000,000 provided in the special federal measure added to about $5,500-000 worth of work to be let in the spring will make up the total outlay.

The bureau of public roads informed state officials, however, that any advance allocation of funds would be charged against future federal aid appropriations. Members of the Georgia congressional delegation, with one or two exceptions, have signified their interest in an intention to support the "speed-up" program when it comes to a vote.

The PRICE of FOOD TODAY

PERSONAL

Holiday seasons are always open seasons in A&P Stores for the great army of the bargain-hunters. They know that A&P gives them particularly good chances for the foods that are in greatest demand.

It's A&P's policy to reduce rather than to increase prices of what the public most wants—Turkeys soon, for instance.

HOUSE, SENATE SHOALS DEADLOCK UNABATING

Efforts To Compromise Positions Again Meet Failure.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The deadlock between the house and senate on Muscle Shoals remained unbroken tonight despite a new offer of compromise from the house.

Conferees were hopeful of working out some plan, at the next meeting Friday, however, which will open the path for settlement of the ten-year dispute and thus remove one threat for an extra session in the spring.

The compromise proposed by the house delegation today called for government operation of the power plant and lease of the nitrate plant.

The senators continued to hold out for a vote in the house on the senate bill for government operation of the entire project.

The house members, however, proposed that the senate conferees should go back for another vote on the government operation bill in the senate.

The text of the house compromise proposal, which will be further considered at the meeting Friday, follows:

"1.—The government to operate the dam and power generating facilities, retaining control of the switchboard.

"2.—Government to have the nitrate plants, making liberal provision for the manufacture of fertilizer and fertilizer ingredients with provision in the lease contract or contracts for ample power at such price and terms as will encourage quantity production of cheap fertilizer for the benefit of agriculture.

"3.—Government to sell surplus power at the switchboard, giving preferential rights in purchase of same to states, counties and municipalities.

"4.—Make definite provision for government to build Cove Creek storage dam, authorizing sufficient appropriation for that purpose."

COLUMBUS PROTESTS NEW RAIL SCHEDULE

The Georgia public service commission Tuesday heard protests from Columbus citizens on a proposed change in schedules of two Southern railroad trains out of that city.

The railroad had applied to the commission for authority to make certain changes on grounds that the service would be better "attuned" to through schedules, according to Walter R. McDonald, a member of the commission.

Representatives of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce and attorneys stated, however, that present schedules were suited to local travel, and that business interests were opposed to change.

Play Scheduled.

"Heaven Bound," the sacred pageant and concert originated by Choir No. 1, of the Big Bethel A. M. E. church, will be presented at 8:40 o'clock on the night of Monday, December 15, at Big Bethel church, for the eleventh time this season, it was announced Tuesday. The pageant will be given under the auspices of the Business Woman's committee of the North Avenue Presbyterian church. A special section will be reserved for white people.

Move by Stewart Costs Atkinson Seat in Assembly

For a cause believed to be without precedence in the legislative history of Georgia, a member of the present general assembly who was also elected to the same office last November will be disqualified to take his seat when Governor Hardman convenes an extra session.

Charles E. Stewart, now living in Coffee county and its member-elect to the lower house, due to meet in regular session next June, is disqualified from serving as the member from Atkinson county, which sent him to the legislature in 1929, because he has removed his residence since serving in the 1929 regular session.

And Atkinson county will have no representative in the special session—unless, as seems impractical—a special election is called between now and the date the governor calls the lawmakers together and a successor to Stewart is selected that way.

After serving Coffee county in the legislature, Stewart moved into Atkinson when that county was established and became its legislative representative in 1929. After the 1929 regular session he moved to Coffee county and was again elected there. But Georgia's constitution, article 3, section 4, paragraph 8, says:

"The seat of a member of either house (of the general assembly) shall be vacated on his removal from the district or county from which he was elected."

FLORIDA U. HEAD QUILTS RHODES BOARD

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 9.—(AP)—President John J. Tigert, of the University of Florida, today announced his resignation from the committee on selection of Rhodes scholars.

Dr. Tigert said he did not believe the idea of amending a man's will by legislative action is in accord with the opinions of most of the American people. He said he had letters from more than 30 presidents of state universities stating their disapproval of the new plan of selecting Rhodes scholars. Twenty-six governors also have entered protest to the new plan, Dr. Tigert declared.

VENEZUELA RECEIVES HENRY CLAY STATUE

CARACAS, Venezuela, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A statue of Henry Clay presented to Venezuela by the United States government was dedicated today by James Rockwell Sheffield, former American ambassador to Mexico, and a distinguished American delegation.

The statue, which is being given in return for one of General Simon Bolivar, hero of South American independence, unveiled in New York in 1921, was formally received by President Juan Bautista Perez for Venezuela. Members of the American colony placed a bronze wreath at the foot of the statue.

HARRISON TO CONTEST BROSSARD ON TARIFF

Fletcher, Coulter, Page and Dixon Approved With-out Roll Call.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Notice of a contest over confirmation of Edgar B. Brossard, republican, Utah, as a member of the reorganized tariff commission, was given in the senate today after the finance committee had approved all six commission nominees.

Chairman Smoot reported the nominations to the senate. Immediately, Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, a democratic member of the finance committee, announced Brossard would be opposed.

Brossard was approved in committee, 11 to 8, one democrat, King, of Utah, voted with ten republicans for a favorable report, and one republican, La Follette, of Wisconsin, joined seven democrats in opposition.

The only other record vote was on Alfred P. Dennis, democrat, Maryland. His nomination was approved, 10 to 2, with Senators Crenshaw, republican, Michigan, and Harrison, in opposition.

Henry P. Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, chairman; John L. Coulter, North Dakota, republicans, and Thomas W. Page, Virginia, and Lincoln Dixon, Indiana, democrats, were approved without roll call.

The fact that Harrison also opposed Dennis in committee promised a possible contest on the Marylander but the democrats expect him to be confirmed. Harrison said he looked for a "very close vote" on Brossard, but Smoot expressed belief he would pull through.

Sugar underlies the opposition to Brossard. He worked on a sugar cost report as an economist in 1923 with A. M. Fox and Frederick Turner, commission economists, which was used by former Commissioners Marvin and Burgess in reporting to President Coolidge that no reduction in the sugar duty was warranted.

RETIRED RECTOR TAKES OWN LIFE

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Rev. J. J. Clifton, 74, retired Episcopal minister, was found strangled to death in his room here today, and the coroner and police said he had committed suicide.

Mr. Clifton had retired about 18 months ago from his parish, St. Johns, Bellevue-Dayton, Ky., and had taken a room here. A slip knot had been tied around his neck and the other end fastened to the foot of his bed. Then he appeared to have pulled against it and fallen out of a chair, investigators said. He had been in ill health for several years.

The aged clergyman was the author of a book on the life of Stonewall Jackson and of many articles on church history.

LABOR BACKS 5-HOUR DAY FOR U. S. WORKERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A five-day week for government employees, proposed in the senate as an unemployment relief measure by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, today was given the approval of the American Federation of Labor.

President William Green of the federation in a statement described the Walsh bill as sounding "a most constructive legislative note," deserving the support of "all classes of people who are actually seeking for a remedy for our acute unemployment situation."

FLORIDA COURT BACKS SCHOOL PUPIL HAULS

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The right of county school boards to spend public funds for furnishing transportation to children living a considerable distance from schools was upheld today by the state supreme court.

The question of who should pay the cost of operating the school buses came before the court in an appeal from a decision of a Brevard county court in which a group of taxpayers sought to restrain the county school board from spending funds for the operation of buses.

Mother Kills Son For "Tantalizing" Her

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. William Donahue told county officials she shot and killed her 13-year-old son, Thomas, today, "because he tantalized me."

She said the boy refused to do a chore this morning on the Donahue place at Medusa, near here, and she shouted, "Tommy, come here this minute or I'll use this"—picking up a rifle.

"I dare you to," she said the boy replied, and she raised the rifle to her shoulder and fired. Tommy fell.

Neighbors who heard the shot found the mother almost hysterical over the boy's body, trying to revive him.

Mrs. Donahue, who is 34, said her husband was in Georgia exhibiting a trick mule which supports the family. The Donahues have two other children.

River Survey Ordered.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The war department today authorized a survey of the St. John's river in the general vicinity of James Point and New Beria, and waterways from Choctawhatchee to West Bay.

VIRGINIA'S FIRST LADY TO WED ON JANUARY 3

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Miss Suzanne Pollard, first lady of Virginia, and Herbert Lee Boatwright, Jr., young Washington attorney, will be married at the executive mansion here at 8 o'clock on the evening of January 3.

The wedding, the climax of the winter social season in the capital of the Old Dominion, will be the first in over 40 years in the fine old mansion that has been the home of Virginia's governors for more than 100 years. It will unite two of Virginia's best known families. Mr. Boatwright being a native of Danville, Va.

MRS. HOOVER LEADS NEW SHIPS TO SEA

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The steamship President Hoover was launched here today with ceremonies befitting the new queen of the American merchant marine.

A bottle of water collected from the seven seas and two canals, in the hands of Mrs. Herbert Hoover christened the vessel as she gracefully glided down the ways into the James river.

The ship was said by R. Stanley Dollar, president of the Dollar line, the vessel's owners, to be his answer to "rumors of business depression."

OUR "BUY NOW" SALE A BIG SUCCESS!

"You couldn't have cut your price at a better time," one woman told us. "I can get two pairs of shoes and a couple of Christmas gifts with a ten-dollar bill!"

"To go with everything"

—just as an extra pair of shoes in which to feel well dressed—we suggest black suede or black patent leather. They're flattering to every foot and will be good style straight through to spring!

Important note about color

Every shoe wardrobe this winter should contain at least one pair of colored leather shoes. Remember that our new $4 price includes the smartest modes in brown, green, wine and a few deep blues. For crepe and velvet afternoon dresses, we'll dye fabric slippers to any tint. Black chiffon gowns, too, are ultra-smart worn with gay-colored slippers and bit of jewelry to match.

NOT A "CLEARANCE"

All new winter stock
Sizes 2½ to 9: AAAA to D

We've never had a cut-price sale before in Nisley history and we'll probably never have another one! But we're glad we didn't postpone this event until January—the usual sale month—because the response just couldn't be better! Every one wants that extra dollar for Christmas gifts right now, and every woman wants at least one pair of pretty new shoes for holiday parties.

This sale, of course, was planned to widen our circle of Nisley customers . . . and every time we fit a pair of shoes we make a friend. You'll feel the same way about these superlative shoe-values, regularly marked $5 and now offered at only $4. You'll like our manner of serving you too . . . no pressure to buy . . . no trouble to try-on as many pairs as you like. That's what we want you to do, in fact—see everything and compare values! But time is short! Come in tomorrow if possible.

Remember! Even at $4 you're getting much more than the usual $5 shoe. Nisley Shoes have never been in the $5 class. They've never been bought by "$5 shoe purchasers," but by women who have always paid more UNTIL THEY DISCOVERED NISLEY! We make all our own shoes in our own plants and do this work on such a vast scale (to supply our more than fifty Nisley stores) that we can afford the softer, finer leathers, more shapely lasts and refinements-of-finish which you only look for in expensive shoes.

LEAGUE'S ARMS PARLEY ADJOURNS

Draft Completed To Form Basis of 1932 Conference.

GENEVA, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The preparatory disarmament conference finished its work tonight and adjourned sine die, leaving as a legacy the outline of a general disarmament treaty the value of which history only can assess.

This outline, or draft convention, is to form the basis for the deliberations of a world disarmament conference which probably will be called to meet early in 1932.

Before its final adjournment the commission took solemn inventory of its extensive labors and acknowledged that their results were imperfect. The draft convention, however, the majority agreed, while providing little more than the stabilization of present armaments as an immediate prospect, holds great possibilities for reduction if only governments will be of a mind to reduce.

So far as is known at Geneva, the Franco-Italian naval controversy has not undergone any modification during the five weeks' deliberations here. Representatives of both countries are understood to have had occasional contact but no agreement even near agreement was announced.

SENATE DEBATES WAR GUILT PUZZLE
WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The question of who started the World War was raised in the senate today and a brief but vigorous debate ensued.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, blamed Germany. Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, blamed Great Britain and France must share in the responsibility.

It all began in a discussion of international debt cancellations, precipitated by Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, who sought to insert a magazine article on that subject in the Congressional Record.

Reed asked if it was not German propaganda, and said he would oppose with his last "ounce of strength" the cancellation of Germany's reparations because, in his opinion, Germany caused the war.

Borah immediately disagreed and opposed another Reed amendment to the effect that Germany was not paying excessively.

Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, asked that the debt question be considered in the light of American adherence to the World Court.

Religion, Science Are Sister Forces, Dr. Millikan Asserts

No Conflict Whatever, Famous Physicist Declares in Lecture At Emory.

BY WILLIAM O. KEY, JR.

Religion and science are two great sister forces which are pulling mankind onward and upward, Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan, leading physicist, told a large audience at Emory University Tuesday night.

Those who had gathered in the expectation of hearing the eminent scientist clarify problems of the cosmic system so as to make them understandable to the layman were doomed to disappointment, for the Californian dwelt only briefly and then with a sweeping generality on the universal idea.

Answering the rhetorical question, "Where does the idea of God come in," Dr. Millikan said:

"It is a part of religion. There is something in the universe that gives significance and meaning to all existence." Previously he had mentioned three great elements known to the scientific world of today. He enumerated these as the discovery of the Golden Rule, which embodied the spiritual, or religious, idea; the discovery of the ideal of progress, or the growth of civilization; and from the Galilean and Newtonian laws, Dr. Millikan said, science may trace the advent of the modern internal combustion engine. Without the discoveries by Galileo, he insisted, the steam engine, the automobile and the flying machine would have been impossible.

"Galileo started the modern physical science that extended on a course down to our present day," Dr. Millikan asserted. "He got away from the belief that facts must be deduced from and obliged to conform with rationalized scholasticism. He confessed that he knew nothing about the nature of force, the cause of gravity or the origin of the universe. He was the discoverer of the truth that force is equal to mass times acceleration."

Turning to the spiritual development of civilization as an outgrowth of discoveries in the material sphere, Dr. Millikan declared that throughout history primitive people have looked upon nature as a capricious and unreliable being. In its very changes, he said, the primordial man conceived the idea of it being motivated by one or more pagan gods.

It is significant, the savant observed, that all great men in the scientific world have been essentially religious in outlook. He cited the case of Leonardo da Vinci, declaring:

"Sir Isaac Newton possesses the religious viewpoint, and likewise does Einstein, Dr. Millikan said.

"There is no conflict between science and religion as interpreted by the best minds of the world," he averred. As to whether the dissemination of scientific knowledge has really changed the hold of religion on people he cited statistics tending to show that in 1926 26 out of every 100 persons in the United States were members of the Protestant church, which he said, represented a large increase during the previous century."

YOUNG BANDIT TRIO ROBS SIX VICTIMS

Three young bandits operating in a two-passenger car Tuesday night perpetrated a series of six holdups on the north side which netted small returns but greatly exercised the police, who scoured the neighborhood ineffectually.

Victims were: G. P. Jones, of 618 Moreland avenue, robbed of an empty pocketbook and 60 cents in change; James T. Fuller, of 681 North Highland, who, confronted with a pistol at the intersection of Peachtree and Peachtree streets, was robbed of $2.00; and W. S. Hughes, of 194 Fourteenth street, robbed of $5 and a watch.

Other robberies were reported by J. W. Hoyt, of 41 West Sixteenth street, who was forced to yield his watch and chain in front of his home; and A. Bressler, of 150 Peachtree circle, robbed of $2 in cash and his overcoat at Peachtree and Sixteenth about 10 minutes later.

In each case the bandits answered to the same general description in appearance and tactics: one of them wielding the gun while two others "fished" their victim. Two of those held up expressed the opinion that the bandits were using a grease gun and a toy pistol to intimidate their victims, but confessed that, being outnumbered, they lacked the hardihood to act upon their theory and offer resistance.

Two victims described the car as being the same license number, and a check-up at headquarters disclosed that such a car was stolen three days ago.

271,210 VETERANS
ASK U. S. RELIEF
WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Director General Hines, of the veterans' administration, informed President Hoover today that 271,210 veterans had appealed for the disability allowance created by the last congress and that out of 96,026 claims passed on approximately 51 per cent had been allowed.

Hines said Mr. Hoover had been deeply interested in the fact that where employment was the tightest, the number of applications for government aid had been the largest.

BARTON FUNERAL HELD IN NEW YORK
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Funeral services for the Rev. Dr. William E. Barton, former moderator of the Congregational churches and an authority on Lincoln, were held today at the Broadway Tabernacle.

The Rev. Dr. Allen Chalmers, pastor of the tabernacle, read Dr. Barton's favorite Bible passages, and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton, also a former moderator of Congregational churches.

The casket was banked with flowers from Dr. Barton's children, and flowers sent by President and Mrs. Hoover were placed at the head.

BOARD APPROVES FEES OF SCHOOLS

Control of Special Income Is Voted by Education Body.

Board approval of all fees charged students of the Atlanta public school system was voted Tuesday afternoon at the regular monthly meeting of that body, at which Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the local system, announced that $31,000 will be necessary to relieve the pupil load in classrooms beginning with the February term.

Mr. Sutton declared that the Georgia committee of the Southern Colleges' Association again has sounded a warning to Atlanta that the classroom load is too heavy and that some remedial measures must be taken at once.

The board voted to include that expenditure in the new 1931 budget, which will be prepared by the administration, and ordered work to proceed at once to care for the new students and relieve congested classrooms.

Another development of the session was the report of the legislative committee of the board concerning its activities. The board also authorized the administrative department to prepare a budget keeping the present salary schedule and the present organization intact, and to use every reasonable economy in making up the finance sheet for 1931.

In adopting the report of the committee headed by Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, the board declared that no fees should be included in the list sent to parents which listed charges for the parent-teacher associations or for school publications and that no other fees should be charged without consent of the board.

Murphy and Maddox Junior High schools and Boys' and Tech High schools will receive $4,000 each of the fund set up for capital outlay under the plan as outlined by Mr. Sutton. Other improvements will be scattered throughout the system.

Mrs. Nelson opposed a proposal of Mr. Sutton to relieve congestion at the Gray negro school by establishment of a temporary negro school on a board-owned lot at Techwood drive and Linden street, and it was decided to add to the Gray school.

Many other routine matters were considered.

Citing a list of eight accomplishments, E. R. Sweet, chairman of the legislative committee, formally filed his report on its achievements. He failed to recommend that the board resign in a body effective January 1, 1932, in order that James L. Key proposal might become effective at that time, as he at first contemplated.

Among the accomplishments cited in the report were assurance of Fulton county representatives that the bill merging borough and county schools will be repealed; assurance that names and addresses of parents will be furnished annually to tax assessors in an effort to increase taxation; assurance of Mayor-elect Key that adequate funds will be provided for operation and maintenance of the school system.

Passage of a rule requiring all employees of the board to pay state, county and city taxes; recommendation of a drastic cut in the board membership; recommendation of establishment of a committee of from five to seven members by the incoming board to recommend charter changes dealing with the right of the board to levy and collect its own finances, the size of the membership of the board taking especial cognizance of the recently passed Key plan providing for drastic reduction of the borough council.

Inventor's Divorce Blocked.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Professor Louis A. Hazeltine, 40, inventor of radio devices, was under a temporary injunction today restraining him from prosecuting a divorce action begun in Reno, Nev. The restraining order, signed by Vice Chancellor Fallon, was granted upon the application of the wife, Mrs. Phillipine Hazeltine, who declared that her husband had no cause for divorce and was not in fact a resident of Nevada.

CORPORAL KILLS BRITISH CAPTAIN AND SERGEANT

LONDON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A Lahore dispatch to the London Evening News today said that Captain P. J. W. McClellan, of the 10th battalion, eighth Punjab regiment, and a sergeant, were shot and killed on parade at Lahore today by a lance corporal. Indian soldiers fired two rounds at the assailant but he shot and killed himself before it was possible to capture him.

Seventh Dies.

WINCHESTER, Ky., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Opal Arnold, seven years old, only survivor of a family of seven, died in a hospital here today of burns received in the fire that cost the lives of the others. Her father, Leonard Arnold, 34, oil field worker; Mrs. Arnold and four other children were buried yesterday in one grave near Leeco, where their home was destroyed Saturday. Opal is to be buried in a grave beside them.

Something new for a lady!

Brand new this Christmas—and already so popular! Waterman's Lady Patricia, the first fountain pen to really meet a woman's needs and taste. It's a wonderful gift for a lady—smart, useful, and absolutely unique.

Ask your Waterman's dealer to show you how new and different the Lady Patricia is. How utterly unlike the "scaled-down" men's pens formerly offered to women. While you are admiring its beauty remember that the pleasure a pen will give depends largely on two things you can neither see nor touch, the experience and the ability of the maker. Then recall that all over the world the name Waterman's means to millions of satisfied users "the best fountain pen ever made."

Good dealers everywhere carry Waterman's pens. Have yours fill your pen with Waterman's ink, the ink that is made for fountain pens. ## DRYS AVERT SPLIT ON REFERENDUM

Mrs. Willebrandt Reaffirms Faith in Prohibition Despite New Job.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(P)—Dry leaders questioned a former federal prohibition prosecutor behind the closed doors of the National Temperance Council today, while, at another meeting three blocks distant, the Methodist board of temperance was moving to keep peace in the dry ranks by voting unanimously against a national prohibition referendum.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney-general in charge of prohibition, and now counsel for a grape concentrate concern, appeared before the temperance council at its own request, but only after objections had been raised against her. Once there, however, her hearers said she reaffirmed her belief in the efficacy of prohibition and readily submitted to questioning about the Volstead act and its relation to the making of wine from grape concentrates in the home. Mrs. Willebrandt declined to discuss her appearance.

The action of the Methodist board in voting, late in the day, against a prohibition referendum came as somewhat of a surprise. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, its secretary, had told the group in the morning "the time has come to call the bluff of the wet propagandists by saying, 'If you want a real referendum—we will meet you half way.'"

Dr. Wilson, himself, however, recommended the passage of the motion, which said in part that the board "joins with the allied dry forces of the nation in accordance with the action taken by them in opposing a referendum on or a resubmission of the eighteenth amendment. We favor the re-ordination of all the dry forces of the country."

The motion asserted the wets have "attempted to destroy prohibition" by obstructing its administration, "by the indirect use of criminals, by the incidental causation of murder, by resistance to government."

In still another section of the capital, the delegates to the "National Constitutional Convention" had advanced six proposals as substitutes for the 18th amendment or the Volstead act, and were moving to reach an agreement upon a single one of them. They ranged from light wine and beer to outright repeal of either the act or the amendment.

Women Oppose Prohibition.
Meeting in a fashionable hotel, the national executive council of the Women's Moderation Union adopted a resolution that work be done to arouse the women to action in the coming presidential election. It also proposed to "call upon congress to help relieve unemployment by passing legislation which will end prohibition and reduce taxes through the re-establishment of industries which the 18th amendment prohibited."

Whether the dries should support a referendum was raised again today before the National Temperance Council, despite a unanimous vote last night against it. Representative Port, republican, New Jersey, was the sponsor. Fort said his plan called for "the wet and dry advocates in congress agreeing upon some amendment to the constitution relative to prohibition," provided the amendment was placed before state constitutional conventions and not the various legislatures.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER CHARGED TO GARY BOYS

GARY, Ind., Dec. 9.—(P)—Five Gary youths today were indicted for first degree murder by the grand jury that investigated the death on November 30 of 15-year-old Arlene Draves.

Miss Draves was alleged to have been criminally attacked prior to her death. The Indiana law provides the death penalty for a person convicted of perpetrating a criminal attack that results in death.

PHYSICIAN

DR. GILBERT S. LAMBERT gives unstinted praise to new Scientific Discovery.

"I was spending the winter in San Antonio, Texas, when I first heard of Sargon. The treatment appealed to me because of its thorough scientific background. I decided to try it for a very bad form of chronic constipation which I was entirely unable to correct with ordinary laxatives and purgatives used in general practice."

"I was also subject to severe bilious attacks. My complexion had become yellow as though I had jaundice. My appetite was below normal. My food did not digest or assimilate, causing gas and indigestion. I was losing weight and strength rapidly."

"Three bottles of Sargon and one bottle of the Pills relieved me entirely of these troubles and I no longer have any liver or biliary symptoms. In fact, I am in better physical tone than in years."

"Sargon undoubtedly represents a real advance in the field of medicine." Dr. Gilbert S. Lambert, Palo Alto, Calif.

Notables of Air World Here To Open New York Service

State Ejects Building Inspector Seeking To Collect Levy for City

Atlanta today will take legal steps to force the state to comply with the provisions of the borough's building code, C. J. Bowen, building inspector, said Tuesday. Bowen charged that he had been ordered from the site of building operations Tuesday by state officials when he went to inspect the new department of agriculture building.

Following his "ejection," the state attorney general, the mayor of the borough, the state commissioner of agriculture and the borough attorney as well as the building inspector became parties to the disagreement which developed when the attorney general's office ruled the state should not pay an $18.50 building permit the borough sought to collect.

The building is under construction for the state chemical department on Mitchell street across from the state capitol at a cost of around $15,000.

Mayor Ragsdale asked Bowen to delay enforcing the ordinance until the Monday session of council, but Bowen declared he had no intention of being driven from the property and then being told to wait an exemption from council.

Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, Tuesday night said that he was abiding by a ruling of the attorney general's office, which held that no municipality had jurisdiction over state property and that the state should not pay the permit costs demanded by Bowen.

City Attorney Mayson stated that the borough would proceed against the department erecting the building the same as against anyone else. "The permit fee is not for the purpose of producing revenue," Mayson said. "It is for expenses in going over plans for buildings, seeing that they comply with fire restrictions and other provisions of the code."

"The state is taking a wrong attitude in this case," Bowen declared. "Under instructions from City Attorney Mayson, I shall proceed to make cases Wednesday if the permit is not taken out and the fees paid." Mr. Bowen declared, "I can be led a long way, but I will not be driven. Atlanta pays every tax exacted from it by the state and the state is going to pay for this permit if I can make it do so."

It is probable that an appeal will be made to council to avoid payment of the fee, it was said. Mr. Bowen declared he would fight this action.

U. S. AVIATION LEADERS HERE

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale was in the vanguard of the "greeters," along with Walter B. Stewart, member of the Fulton county commission and a fast friend of aviation here, and Jesse Draper, president of the Aero Club of Atlanta.

Headquarters at Biltmore. The visitors were taken into the Eastern Air Transport hangar immediately upon their arrival and as their luggage had been separated were placed in the waiting motor cars and taken to the Biltmore hotel, where headquarters for the party were established. Arrangements at the field went through without a hitch, due in the main to the careful preparations which had been made by Olin S. Hunt, division traffic manager of Interstate Airlines, Inc., who was in charge of the airport portion of the program.

After tidying up a bit at the Biltmore the visitors were taken to the Piedmont Driving Club, where, as guests of the Presidents' Club of Atlanta, they were treated to an "old-fashioned" southern dinner, which included fried chicken and other delicacies indigenous to this part of the country. Mell Wilkinson, as president of the Presidents, acted in the capacity of toastmaster.

The new New York-Atlanta line, which will be launched officially at 7:45 o'clock this morning, will for the first time give this city a direct connection by air with the east. Daily planes will operate on a 7-hour and 45-minute schedule, this time including a 30-minute lunch stop at Greensboro. Curtiss Kingbirds, eight-passenger, twin-motored, monoplanes, are to go into service between here and Washington, with Condors, larger and more luxurious craft, to fly from the capital to New York.

ALLEGED THIEF CAUGHT BY CHIEF

When W. H. Tyler, assistant police chief of East Point, brought a young boy to the city juvenile court Tuesday afternoon, he left his automobile, a new and shiny one, parked at the curb about 15 minutes. When he emerged from the building what was his shocked surprise to discover a youth who said he was J. H. Shalley, 18, of Clayton, tampering with his ignition switch in an effort to make off with his brand new car. With his dignity somewhat ruffled, Mr. Tyler produced his handcuffs and clapped them on the luckless youth, who offered the rather naive defense that he wanted the car to haul off some lumber from a cache outside the city limits. County police, investigating the youth's story, failed to find the lumber, so he is just being held on charges of disorderly conduct, and attempted larceny of an automobile, according to city authorities.

WALTER F. BROWN SEES CITY AS HUB OF AIR INDUSTRY

try, all of whom would be available in time of war." Postmaster General Brown praised the south for its enterprise in aviation matters and declared that although this section had been somewhat neglected in the establishment of new lines by the government the south has earned a niche for itself in aeronautics and has won, through its interest in the industry, the development that is certain in years to come.

The Presidents' Club dinner was one of the most brilliant affairs in years. It was laid in a colorful plantation setting suggestive of the "old south," the menu, the entertainment and the decorations carrying out the motif. Negro singers, rendering plantation airs and spirituals, provided the entertainment during the dinner; souvenirs at each plate, in addition to a handsome bronze plaque commemorating the opening of the New York-Atlanta line, consisted of tiny bales of cotton, with a dark perch on top, and the menu included fried chicken and other delicacies for which this section of the country is famous.

Mell Wilkinson, president of the Presidents' Club, presided, opening the festivities with a graceful talk in which he praised the achievements of aviation leaders and particularly those executives who had made possible the establishment of the New York-Atlanta line.

He introduced John K. Ottley, Jr., division traffic manager of Eastern

Air Transport, Inc.; Richard L. Hull, local traffic representative of the company; Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and Mayor-elect James L. Ker.

Governor L. G. Hardman, delivering the address of welcome, commended the aviation executives for their activity in building up the Atlanta airport. He pointed out, in defense of his administration, that school teachers in the state of Georgia will be paid in 1930 $1,368,000 more than they received in 1929 and that more employees are on the state's payroll than there were last year. He declared that unemployment, so far as the operation of the state is concerned, is non-existent, and that the employment situation in the state as a whole is better than in any other section of the south.

Other speakers at the dinner were Captain Thomas B. Doe, president of Eastern Air Transport, and Frederic G. Coburn, president of American Airways, Inc.

CONFERENCE DELEGATES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(Special).—Governor L. G. Hardman, of Georgia, has notified the department of commerce that the state will be represented at the national conference on uniform aeronautic regulatory laws in Washington December 16 and 17 by John K. Ottley, Jr., and Hendrickson Hallman, both of Atlanta. The conference, as announced October 27, was called by Robert F. Lamont, secretary of commerce, and will be held under the auspices of the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce.

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Construction of a lateral sewer in North avenue near Todd avenue to Glen Iris drive, was the only paper of importance recommended by the sewer committee of council Tuesday afternoon.

Two important council committees are slated to hold sessions today. The tax committee will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the police committee at 8 o'clock tonight.

Probe of affairs of the municipal garage will be ended by a committee headed by Alderman P. J. Moon, of the second ward, at a meeting at 7 o'clock Thursday night. Auditor's reports show many "irregularities," it was said, but Dr. Moon, in whose possession the audit has been placed, declined to discuss them.

Five important council committees are slated to hold sessions Thursday afternoon as follows: Electric lights, 2 o'clock; claims, 2:30; ordinance, and water, 3; purchasing at 4.

A fund of $116,000 will be asked of council next year to provide free textbooks for Atlanta school children, under action of the board of education Tuesday.

James W. Maddox, veteran member of the board of education from the fifth ward, in a farewell address to the board Tuesday afternoon urged that body to preserve the salary schedules and thanked members for their co-operation. The board passed resolutions praising his service. He leaves the board next year.

St. Petersburg Police Oked Sun-Bath Suits

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Reformers lost ground in their fight here against sun bathing when Police Chief R. H. Noel made a personal inspection of municipal beaches and placed his stamp of approval upon the backless garments worn by fair bathers today.

Noel covered all beaches and said that in his opinion the sun backs were decent.

Insofar as the police department is concerned, the controversy is at an end and the next move is up to the women's organization.

Fulton High Forms First Atlanta School Boy Traffic Patrol

Fulton High school has the distinction of being the first of the public educational institutions in Atlanta to organize a schoolboy patrol to direct traffic in the vicinity of the school. Uniforms for the "patrolmen" have arrived and Fulton High Tuesday had members of its new traffic squad on the streets at the busy intersection of Washington and Woodward avenue. Within the next few weeks it is expected that Atlanta will have an auxiliary traffic squad of approximately 300 schoolboys patrolling the districts around their respective buildings, and minimizing the danger of street crossing for younger pupils. The Atlanta Motor Club is sponsoring the movement and supplying the uniforms. In the picture above Lieutenant Jack Malcolm (extreme left), head of the police traffic squad, observes the manner in which W. R. Echols, one of the Fulton High "patrolmen," directs traffic.

MAYOR OF ASHEVILLE SAYS HE WILL RESIGN

Citizens' Committee Demanded Resignation Through Newspaper.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Mayor Gallatin Roberts, of Asheville, announced he will resign as soon as details of a new city commission are completed, in a statement to the citizens' committee which has been seeking his resignation since Saturday.

The committee demanded the resignation of Mayor Roberts and every other ranking public official of Asheville and Buncombe county as a result of disclosures of a special audit of public finances and their alleged interlocking connection with recent bank failures here.

The committee charged the city and county boards no longer represent the people's interest because of their action in placing more than $800,000 of public funds in local banks which failed within a short time after deposits were made.

Commissioner L. B. Rogers, of public works, resigned several days ago. Claude Felmet, chairman of the county commission, declined to make a statement other than to say no county officials had resigned as yet.

UNEMPLOYED URGED TO REMAIN AT HOME

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Unemployed persons were warned tonight by Colonel Arthur Woods, chairman of the president's emergency committee for employment, that they will only increase their difficulties if they go away from home looking for work.

Many cities, particularly in the south, he said, report that the transient unemployed situation has become such that it is overwhelming them. Speaking over a nationwide network of the National Broadcasting Company, Colonel Woods said the person without a job is better off where he is in view of the way local authorities are handling their unemployment problems.

TRAMP NOVELIST DIES AT AGE OF 69

LONDON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Bart Kennedy, the "tramp novelist" who fought Indians in the American southwest and goldmined in Alaska, meanwhile writing 20 books, is dead at the age of 69.

Kennedy died Saturday but his death did not become publicly known until today. He had been in ill health.

Reared in Manchester and a worker in a cotton mill at the age of six, Kennedy shipped before the mast while still a youth, turning up in America. He tramped about in the southwest, and years before the gold rush of 1898 had gold-mined in the Klondike.

Tiring of the outdoors, Kennedy turned his attention to other pursuits and became an opera singer and actor. Among his books were "A Tramp's Philosophy," "Darab's Wine Cup," "A Man Adrift" and "The Hunger Line." His recreation, as he cheerily gave it, was "doing nothing."

CHARLES BARRETT. WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Charles C. Barrett, grandfather of Estelle Taylor, motion picture actress and wife of Jack Dempsey, died today after a long illness. He was 78. Mr. Barrett was a native of North-east, Md., but had lived in Wilmington many years.

CHARLES L. MARSH. CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Charles L. Marsh, 76, author of "Net on the Chart" and other novels, died today at Winnetka, a suburb. He was a native of Burlington, Vt.

JULIENNE ROCH. PARIS, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Julienne Madeleine Roch, one of the most noted of France's tragediennes, died today at Marly-lez-Lyon, Paris suburb, at the age of 45. She was ill only a short time.

She made her debut in 1903 as one of Racine's heroines and since then has been one of the most popular interpreters of the classic roles of the Comedie Francaise. She was known for her Shakespearean parts in "Hamlet" and "Macbeth."

One of her last requests was to be buried in the costume of Camille.

BRUENING DEFEATS FOES IN REICHSTAG

BERLIN, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Bruening government today defeated a motion in the reichstag to open debate on the ministry's foreign policy.

The vote was interpreted as a direct result of the chancellor's threat earlier in the day to assume the foreign portfolio himself if his foreign minister, Julius Curtius, was subjected to attack from the floor of parliament.

The reichstag, having disposed of this important issue and of the government's new financial program, has nothing left now but to turn its attention to routine matters. An adjournment for the Christmas holidays was expected before the end of the week.

Railway Train Called Safest Place in Nation

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A railway train, in the opinion of Charles E. Hill, general safety agent of the New York Central railroad, is the safest place a person can be in the United States.

Speaking before the safety section of the American Railway Association yesterday, Hill said the number of deaths to passengers had decreased from 250 in 1913 to 114 in 1929, and that 78 of last year's fatalities were from causes over which the roads had no control. He added that the railroads last year carried nearly nine hundred million passengers, or seven and a half times the population of the country.

Medals Emphasize Outstanding Service to Agriculture.

BOSTON, Dec. 9.—(AP)—An Iowa farm woman, an Illinois farmer and a retired agricultural professor from the University of Minnesota today received distinguished service medals from the American Farm Federation for outstanding service to agriculture.

Mrs. Ellsworth Richardson, of Albia, Iowa, one of the honored trio, is the first woman ever to receive the award. The other recipients were Dudley Myers of Mendon, Ill., and Professor T. L. Haacker, of Lincoln, Nebraska.

These three were chosen from a list of 50 persons in 21 states who had rendered particularly valuable service to agriculture. Mrs. Richardson, state and community chairman for the Iowa farm bureau, has been a pioneer worker in organizing farm women and at the same time has carried on the duties imposed by home and family.

Myers is credited as being largely responsible for the development of the Adams County Live Stock Shipping Association, the largest in Illinois, which has become the model for the national expansion of the co-operative marketing of live stock.

Professor T. L. Haacker is known to farmers as "the father of the co-operative dairy system in Minnesota." His particular service to agriculture has been through researches, the first on the feeding of live stock, and the second, regarded by farm bureau leaders as even more important, in the field of co-operative marketing.

Today's awards bring to a total of six the number who have received the federation's highest award for service to agriculture.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE

Expert Witnesses Insist Officer's Wife Was Given Poison.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Expert witnesses from army and civilian life marshaled by the government testified today in the murder trial of Major Charles A. Shepard that his second wife, Zenna, died of poisoning.

It was brought out that the 50-year-old army medical officer had obtained quantities of the poison from the pharmacy at Fort Riley, Kan., where he is alleged to have killed his wife in order that he might be free to pursue a love affair with Miss Grace Brandon, 22-year-old blonde stenographer of San Antonio, Texas.

Examination of the viscera of Mrs. Shepard, who died in June, 1929, revealed her death resulted from mercurial poisoning, it was testified by the experts.

Sergeant Winslow A. Rose, army pharmacist at Fort Riley, told the jury of several occasions on which Major Shepard obtained supplies of mercury, once on what he described as an "unusual" prescription a few weeks before Mrs. Shepard became ill. In answer to defense questions, Rose said it was not unusual for medical officers at the fort to obtain mercury from the pharmacy.

Pauline Frederick Faces Annulment

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Pauline Frederick, stage and screen star, was made defendant in an annulment proceeding Monday by Hugh Chisholm Leighton, president of the Interstate Hotel Company. Their wedding last April was Miss Frederick's fourth matrimonial venture.

Leighton charged fraud, alleging Miss Frederick entered into the marriage with no intention of carrying out her obligations as a wife. He was a husband in name only, the complaint said.

Miss Frederick was said by her friends to be in Portland, Ore.

FINES IN TENNESSEE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Twelve money lenders accused of violating the Tennessee small loan act were fined in criminal court today. Their attorney announced he will appeal, contending the act is unconstitutional.

Ten heads of loan firms were fined $500 each after one had been convicted by a jury and the others pleaded guilty. Two clerks were fined $250 each. Many clients testified they paid exorbitant interest.

Judge Tom Harsh said he believed the prosecution's intention to prevent usurious interest would be accomplished without the workhouse sentences first asked by the state.

Glory and Spirit of Famous Author Must Live Forever, Dr. Cox Says in Accepting Gift.

"With the textile mills of New England to be the textile mills of the south in this generation, with the 'Pittsburgh of the south' already in our midst and with the industrialization of this section fast under way, organizations like the Uncle Remus Memorial Association are of vital importance if the creative beauty of the old south is to be preserved for future generations."

This assertion was made by Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University, in accepting an oil portrait of Joel Chandler Harris, presented to Emory by Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, life president of the Uncle Remus Memorial Association, in behalf of the association.

"Glories Must Live On."

Dr. Cox pointed out the danger of an industrial south forgetting the glories of the past and rejoiced in the accomplishments of the "Uncle Remus" memorial group in perpetuating the intimate personality of one of the country's most famous literary figures. "The age of automatic machinery has progressed to such extent, enabling this nation now to produce, if it would, all that it does in a 30-hour week, that the question of leisure time becomes a paramount factor, likely to bring about the destruction of the nation if wrongly applied," the university president stated. "We see a glimpse of it in the present economic conditions, he remarked, adding that our salvation depended upon the application of these new leisure hours to creative work such as shown by Joel Chandler Harris.

Mrs. Wilson, in presenting the portrait of the famous author, outlined the work of the memorial association and its future plans. The initial response was made by Thomas H. English, professor of English at Emory, who told of the university's plan to gather source material of Mr. Harris that would make the situation the means of future students of research on the immortal southern writer. He told of the original manuscripts deposited by the Harris family and valuable first editions being collected in the university library's "Uncle Remus" memorial room, where the picture that was presented Tuesday is to hang.

Harris' Sons Are Guests.

Notable among the guests at the memorial association's presentation luncheon were two sons of the honored author, Lucian Harris and Julian Harris, and representatives from Eatonton, Ga., birthplace of Mr. Harris, Mrs. F. A. Dennis and Mrs. J. H. Barber, of Eatonton, and Mrs. F. E. Bozeman and Mrs. C. M. Powell, of Atlanta, formerly of Eatonton.

Among the officers of the memorial association who made brief talks were Mrs. Warren Wright, who announced that the United Daughters of the Confederacy, which organization she also represented, would take up the movement launched by the Uncle Remus Memorial Association to have Joel Chandler Harris named to the American Hall of Fame in 1933, the 25th anniversary of his death; Mrs. Hal Hents and Mrs. A. Purdue.

VALENCIA RIOTING TAKES TWO LIVES

VALENCIA, Spain, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Rioting that raged throughout Valencia today resulted in the death of one striker, the wounding of many, and 50 arrests. One policeman also was reported killed.

The disorders started after a 48-hour general strike had been called in protest against failure of attempts to arbitrate in a dispute between employers and workers in several crafts. Shipping and transportation facilities were crippled and numerous clashes occurred between strikers and police. Disorders broke out at scattered points. Three street cars were overturned by mobs, and rioting in defiance of the strike. The strikers attacked vegetable peddlers and wrecked their carts because they refused to join the walkout.

BY JOHN P. BOLGHAN.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(P)—Brokers—operating in wheat went on a virtual strike today because of government-sponsored operations had taken away their freedom of movement. On the other hand, the commission house buying called customers briskly from price setting, associations with local weather over the corn crop help.

Corn closed unsettled at yesterday's day's finish to 1-2c higher without gain, with oats 1-4c off to 1-4 to 1-8c up, and provisions unchanged to 1-8c up.

Commission houses showed a tendency to encourage corn future delivery business. As on preceding days, however, they were not doing much more than speculate on the decline in prices.

market seemed to be controlled generally by farm board allies. A contrasting feature was the good-sized purchases of May corn on price declines. Primary arrivals of corn were 1,126,000 bushels, compared with 1,356,000 bushels a year back. The chief news to wheat traders was word that the Canadian growers' pool had dispensed with foreign agencies, and that Canada would trade abroad hereafter through ordinary export facilities, a return to the method which has prevailed since the 1920s.

Oats were firm by the rally in corn.

NORMAN'S PLEA SENT TO APPELLATE COURT

Holding that there were no constitutional questions presented for its consideration, the supreme court Thursday remanded the appeal of T. J. Norman, former official of the defunct Colonial Trust Company, who is under sentence of from three to five years for embezzlement, to the court of appeals.

Norman was convicted in Fulton superior court after one mistrial and his case carried to the supreme court on a motion that contained 35 grounds of alleged error.

PRODUCE CARLOT SHIPMENTS INCREASE

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
The weekly market review of the United States department of agriculture on fruits and vegetables, released Tuesday, said carlot shipments of several important products increased during the first week of the month looking toward the Christmas holiday period.

Celery shipments, the report said, increased to almost 1,000 cars, with oranges nearly up to 3,000 and grapefruit to 920 cars. Tangerines from Florida required 240 cars, compared with 65 during the same period last winter.

Florida shipped one car of green peas and originated 65 cars of peppers. Florida's bean movement increased to 135 cars. Bushel hampers of fair quality were returning $1.125 at southern Florida points.

The tomato movement from all shipping districts increased to 100 cars, of which Florida supplied 85, from the east coast growing region. The total shipment was about double that of last year.

TRADE BODY TO HEAR LATIN AMERICA TALK

David J. D. Myers, United States consul at Tegucigalpa, Honduras, who recently returned to this country, will be the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Foreign Trade Club, which will be held at 12:30 o'clock today at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Mr. Myers, a native Georgian, will speak on "The Trade Outlook for Georgia Products in Honduras and Mexico."

Increased to 1,860 cars and Florida jumped to 1,100 cars. A sharp gain occurred in the movement of Florida grapefruit with approximately 175 cars from Florida and 175 from Texas moving into the markets.

The week's combined movement of 25 leading fruits and vegetables gained sharply and totaled 18,100 cars, compared with 15,290 a year ago.

Florida celery plantings are now estimated at 6,510 acres as against a revised report of 6,650 acres for last season. This state has shown a consistent increase since 1925, when only 3,520 acres of celery were grown in Florida.

Florida lettuce ruled at $2.25 for 11-bushel hampers at city dealers. Florida cabbage jobbed at $2.25. This state originated 25 cars during the week.

Start of Work To Provide Jobs for Unemployed Is Urged.

A. Steve Nance and members of the city and county committee of the Atlanta Better Business Commission will undertake to spur work on the proposed $13,000,000 in sewer improvements to offer more jobs for workmen at a meeting of that committee slated for 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Nance is chairman of the committee and will urge the committee to use its influence in pushing an early start on the improvement program, recommended in the sanitary survey by Whitman, Requaert & Smith.

Other members of the committee are Mayor-elect James L. Key, Paul S. Etheridge, Wiley L. Moore, Horace Russell, Edwin F. Johnson, J. Charlie Murphy, George West, W. W. Gaines and R. G. Clay.

First Living Tree At Greenberg's Draws Attention

BY BEN COOPER.
The slim margin of time before Santa Claus cranks up the old flivver and starts on his 1930 chimney-sweeping cruise was brought to public attention Tuesday when the current was turned into the living Christmas tree on the lawn of Sam R. Greenberg & Co., at 95 Forrest avenue, N. E.

Others, following the annual custom established by the work of the Camp Fire Girls, will be lighting their living trees during the next few days, thus reminding shoppers that they had better hurry or lose out in the last minute rush.

Egleston Memorial hospital, on Forrest road, announced Tuesday plans for lighting two trees. The Civic Club of West End also came forward with plans to light a tree at 1115 Gordon street. Others who reported their intention of lighting living trees were: Mrs. D. S. Rattie, of Evelyn place; Mrs. Leonard Williams, 1046 Vance; Mrs. Raymond H. O'Brien, 148 Erie avenue, Decatur; Mrs. J. Bookout, 908 Virginia avenue, and Mrs. W. C. Lovejoy, 240 East Ponce de Leon, Decatur.

Promotion Forces Civic Leader To Remove to New York.

Herbert N. Hutchinson, branch manager for the American Surety Company and the New York Casualty Company and one of the most active workers in Atlanta, has been promoted to the post of superintendent of production of these two insurance concerns.

The promotion, which becomes effective January 15, will necessitate Mr. Hutchinson's removal to headquarters in New York city, it was learned, and will place the well-known Atlantian in one of the most important offices in the entire insurance field of North America.

A. O. Davis, assistant manager of the local territory, has been named to succeed Mr. Hutchinson as general manager of the local offices, which cover the field for the two companies in the states of Georgia, South Carolina, Florida and Alabama.

In leaving Atlanta, Mr. Hutchinson

RUSSELL MOVES TO KEEP STATION

Horace Russell, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, has asked First Assistant Postmaster General Arch Coleman to reconsider the department's decision to abandon the Arcade sub station.

Mr. Coleman had advised that the sub station would remain open until January 1 when its functions would be transferred to the main office. The first assistant also pointed out that with the erection of the new building three major postal units would be located within a half-mile of each other.

The department has been asked to keep the Arcade station open until the new building is opened.

He feels a deep regret for the severance of so many friendships gained during his residence in this city.

Miss Merrell Weds A. Campbell Wyllie In Newnan, Ga.

NEWNAN, Ga., Dec. 9.—The marriage of Miss Faye Merrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Merrell, and A. Campbell Wyllie, of Atlanta and New York city, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents here at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Dr. E. W. Stone, of Newnan, performed the ceremony, witnessed by a gathering of friends and relatives.

The home was decorated with palms, ferns and chrysanthemums. An improvised altar, formed in the living room, was banked with palms, ferns and floor baskets filled with chrysanthemums.

Preceding the ceremony a musical program was rendered by Mrs. O. W. Taft, at the piano, playing "D. From Me" and Mrs. Barnett who sang "At Dawning." The wedding march from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was played and for a professional the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" was used.

Miss Mildred Merrell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and was lovely wearing blue flat crepe. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bride and her father, who gave her in marriage, entered together and were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Harold W. Wylie, of Marietta, Ga. The bride was gown in a model of beige chiffon and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrell were hosts at an informal reception in compliment to the bride and bridegroom. They were assisted in entertaining the guests by Mrs. Eunice Lou Fotts, Mrs. W. C. Kinnard, Mrs. H. D. Perry and Mrs. Patty Davis, of Manatee, Fla., sister of the bridegroom. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wylie left for Miami, and upon their return will make their home in Atlanta.

Musical Prodigy.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 9.—The musical world of America will be focused on Asheville in the article appearing in the National Junior Music Magazine, published in Merchantsville, N. J. The magazine carries a picture and an account of the genius of little Louise Young, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Young, of West Asheville.

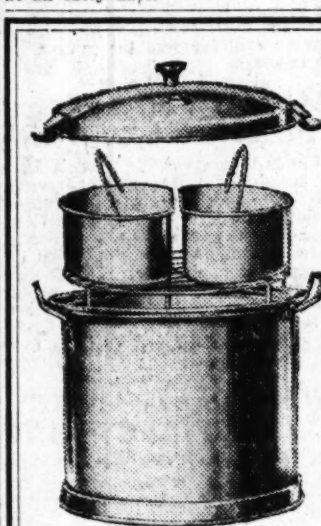

Mrs. Julian E. Williams, editor of the National Junior Music Magazine, wrote the article on the child prodigy for her columns on "Who's Who in Music." The little girl studied music only five months under Miss Blanch Loftain.

Lucy Cobb Alumnae.

Lucy Cobb alumnae sponsors a bridge party and bazaar at Rich's tearoom Tuesday, December 16th. The bridge party will begin at 3 o'clock, those desiring to engage tables are requested to telephone to Miss Edith Taylor, 536 Peachtree, HElock 2946, or to Miss Rosa Woodberry, HE. 1389. Members have made and collected an array of attractive things for the bazaar, including some antiques, fancy work, cakes and candies. Proceeds will go to Dr. Brooks, of Lucy Cobb Institute, for the school, with some designated objective.

"Yes, Virginia,
there IS a Santa Claus," answered

The New York Sun in a kindly editorial that lives on and on

"Dear Editor: I am eight years old . . . Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus . . . Papa says 'If you see it in The Sun, it's so.' . . . Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

VIRGINIA O'HANLON.
December, 1897.

And 33 Years Later Rich's Re-Prints the Words of the Understanding Editor . . . and Whole-Heartedly Re-Echoes His Sentiments . . . . .

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! As dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

"Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus.

"The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in the world.

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

"No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood!"

ENTHUSIASM FOR APPROACHING HOLIDAYS

The holiday is dear to the heart of every little girl. And this one doubles its charm because of the smartly flared skirt, snug hips and belted waistline.

It's very gay in scarlet red wool jersey with white pique collar.

Again for this fascinating model, navy blue wool crepe with white pin dots is smart. The self-fabric collar is piped in red grosgrain ribbon which is worn over for a bow tie.

Brown crepe cloth is another ideal suggestion with huge brown ball button trim.

Twelve-like cottons, linen, pique and cotton broadcloth are lovely tubular fabric for this model.

Style No. 991 is designed for small folk of 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

Size 8 requires 2 1/4 yards 35-inch with 1 1/4 yard 35-inch contrasting.

A copy of large Winter Fashion Magazine should be in every home for of course every woman wants to look her best without great expense, and this book points the way. It also contains excellent Christmas suggestions.

Price of book, 10 cents.

Price of pattern, 15 cents, in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Address orders to Annette Fashion Department, care The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Bible Lesson Postponed.

Mrs. Green Issues Letter to Voters.

Mrs. Harry L. Greene, president of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, issues the following open letter to the league members:

Some members believe they should not vote because they do not know the different candidates personally, and have not sufficient information. Unfortunately the information may not be as complete as desired, but we need suggestions from the league members as to just what they do want. It is important for all league members to vote, and if they feel the need of further information, or any other definite service, they shall feel assured that all criticism will be gratefully accepted at the office, and careful consideration will be given to the suggestions and expressed needs of members. The changes will naturally be made along the lines desired by the members.

"We are attempting to make the league a 'Laboratory in Democracy.' Our first step is to get our own members to vote, and in doing this we hope to find out just what will stimulate citizens to vote in city elections. You may vote in league elections either by mail or at the polls in the league office December 10, from 8:30 in the morning until 4 in the afternoon. Please write in the name of the candidate you wish to support. Use the ballot in the current issue of Facts. The name of Mrs. J. W. Willis through whose error was left off the ballot, please write in the name of Mrs. Willis and number all the names according to your choice. A one hundred per cent increase in the league vote last year was wonderful. What will this be this year?"

AMERICAN ACE KILLED IN CHINA PLANE CRASH

SHANGHAI, Dec. 9.—(P)—Paul Baer, of Fort Wayne, Ind., pilot, 30; was a ranking American ace during the World War, and a Chinese pilot was killed when their plane crashed on the Whangpoo river near here today.

Five Chinese passengers, among them General Hsiung Shih Hui, commander of the garrison at Shanghai, were seriously injured in what is said to be the first crack-up of an air mail plane in China.

The plane was carrying mail and passengers from Nanking to Shanghai. BAER SERVED IN WAR AND WON "ACE" RANKING. FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 9.—(P) Paul Baer, killed in an airplane accident in Shanghai, China, yesterday, was a ranking American ace during the World War, shooting down 16 German planes and pilots while flying as a member of the French Lafayette escadrille. One of Baer's French comrades, Captain Charles Nungesser, since lost on a trans-Atlantic attempt, came to Fort Wayne in 1925 to dedicate an airport named for Baer.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

JERRY MUSKRAT HEARS THE NEWS.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Sift well the news and it is clear. How little quite worth while we hear.

—JERRY MUSKRAT.

Stumpy, the three-legged young Muskrat, had bumped his nose. He had bumped it hard against something and it had startled him so that he had very nearly let go all the air he was holding in his lungs while he swam under water. In vain he tried to put his nose on for fresh air. The Smiling Pool had a top, a hard top or roof, or else he was having a bad dream. He turned back to the bottom, swam down to the underwater entrance to the underwater hall that led up to the comfortable room above water in Jerry Muskrat's house, and there drew a long breath of fresh air. How good it was. My, my, what a relief it was not to have to hold his breath any longer.

His father, Jerry Muskrat, was asleep. So was his mother. His sister was awake and to her Stumpy excitedly told of his queer experience.

"So the Smiling Pool has got a top, a hard top on it," he concluded.

His sister yawned. "Go to sleep," said she. "You've been dreaming. Go to sleep and when you wake again you'll find the Smiling Pool is just as it always has been." She yawned twice and then calmly went to sleep.

Stumpy couldn't. No, sir, he tried to go to sleep. He wanted to. He was too excited to go to sleep. He kept thinking about that hard top on the Smiling Pool and wondering where it had come from and who had put it there and what it was for. He did wish his father would awaken. Two or three times he started to back out into the Smiling Pool, but each time his courage failed. There was something queer about the Smiling Pool. He had had hard work to get back before losing his breath that other time and he really didn't dare try it again. No, sir, Stumpy really didn't dare go out in the Smiling Pool again. He had a feeling that he might not get back.

At last Jerry Muskrat yawned and stretched. "I've grown news," whispered the young Muskrat excitedly. "I've been outside and what do you think has happened?"

"What?" asked Jerry, beginning to be interested.

"The Smiling Pool has a top, a hard top," cried the excited Stumpy.

Jerry stopped yawning and looked at his crippled son with a queer expression. "What was that you said?" he asked.

"I said that the Smiling Pool has a top, a hard top, a sort of roof," replied Stumpy.

"Have you been dreaming?" asked Jerry, and added: "You must have been. The idea of the Smiling Pool having a hard roof or any kind of a roof for that matter! You've been eating too many carrots."

"I haven't been dreaming and I haven't eaten too many carrots," retorted Stumpy indignantly. "The Smiling Pool has a high roof even if you don't believe it. I bumped

REHEARING DENIED IN ADAMS CASE

The state supreme court Tuesday denied a motion for rehearing in the case of Burley Adams, Columbia county man under death sentence for the murder of Walter Tolbert, a prohibition agent. The court held that there was no merit in the assignment of error in the trial of exceptions.

In another opinion the court reversed the Meriwether county court and ordered a new trial for Reuben Corley, under life sentence for slaying his brother, Earl Corley. Admission of what the court termed irrelevant and hearsay evidence was the ground for the reversal.

BAPTISTS TO ASK PUBLIC FOR FUNDS

Funds to support the Georgia Baptist hospital, the Hapeville orphanage, and other Baptist state institutions during 1931 will be raised partially by a direct public appeal, according to resolutions adopted Tuesday by the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist convention in session at the First Baptist church. The resolutions were introduced by Dr. L. H. Christie, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church.

CHEVROLET PLANS KNOXVILLE PLANT

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 9.—(P) W. D. Harwood, local manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, announced today that an assembling and service plant doing a business of approximately $750,000 annually will be opened in Knoxville by the Chevrolet Motor Company within two weeks.

The plant, he said, will assemble all kinds of commercial bodies for distribution in the Knoxville zone comprised of east Tennessee, southwest Virginia, western North Carolina and northern Alabama. Harwood said from six to eight carloads commercial bodies will be assembled weekly.

Robert Arrington, of Memphis, will be in charge of the plant.

DOAK ASSUMES OFFICE QUIETLY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(P)—The swearing in of William M. Doak as secretary of labor was a simple affair today.

The formality that usually accompanies the induction into office of a cabinet member was held last week. Only department officials were in the office of Mr. Doak recited the oath following his confirmation yesterday by the senate.

ATLANTAN, 2 OTHERS ARE HELD IN KILLING

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 9.—(P)—Three persons were held tonight in connection with the death of Walter "Bull" Novitsky, 35, who was found shot to death in a hotel room early today.

Charles Davis, alias Frank Murray, 20, of Atlanta, was arrested by police after he had jumped from a second-story window of the hotel and run to the blocks. Police said tonight he had refused to answer questions.

Police said they also were holding for questioning Joe Goldberg and Harry Martin, both of whom said they came from Boston.

Polo Game, Hop and Visitors Interest Society at the Garrison

FORT McPHERSON, Dec. 9.—The polo game to be played at the post Sunday afternoon will be of interest to sports-loving Atlantans as well as the military personnel. This game between the Governor's Horse Guards and the post team will not be the third game of the championship series in view of the fact that two members of the post team will be away for the week-end by order of the war department. Both Major Gustav H. Franke and Lieutenant William Biddle will be among the officers making a flight in the reconnoitered Question Mark, piloted by Captain Muse, of Maxwell field. The game will be called at 3 o'clock, and a polo match will be staged between halves with players from the 22nd infantry and corps area, and tea will be served afterward at the Officers' Club.

Hop at Officers' Club

The hop to be given at the Fort McPHERSON Officers' Club Friday evening, December 12, with Colonel Charles Lovelace Foster and Mrs. Foster, Major Gustav H. Franke and Mrs. Franke, and Captain Richard T. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards as the official hosts centers the interest of the military contingent. A number of dinner parties will be given by members of the military set prior to the hop. Brigadier General George E. Estes and Mrs. Estes entertain at dinner at their quarters and covers will be placed for Brigadier General William R. Dashiell and Mrs. Dashiell, Major Harry E. Dieber and Mrs. Dieber, Mr. and Mrs. Trammell Scott, Major Steven J. Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain, and Captain John Aman and Mrs. Aman.

Captain Charles Brice and Mrs. Brice entertain at a buffet supper at the quarters, the guests to include Colonel Charles Lovelace Foster and Mrs. Foster, Colonel G. L. McKeeby and Mrs. McKeeby, Major Roland Gaugler and Mrs. Gaugler, Major Francis Fuller and Mrs. Fuller, Major Ralph Holliday and Mrs. Holliday, Major Gustav H. Franke and Mrs. Franke, Major Harvard Moore and Mrs. Moore, Captain David E. Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler, Captain George Abrams and Mrs. Abrams, and Lieutenant Charles Landon and Mrs. Landon.

Visitors Honored

Colonel Laurence O. Mathews and Mrs. Mathews entertain prior to the hop at a supper party in honor of their daughter, Mrs. W. C. Bryson, of the Panama Canal Zone, and Miss Barbara Somerville, of Nashville, Tenn. Miss Somerville, daughter of Colonel George R. Somerville, who is on duty with the national guard unit in Nashville, is spending several weeks in Atlanta visiting Colonel Mathews and Mrs. Mathews. The guests will include a number of the younger set of the military circles. Lieutenant Robert S. Williams and Mrs. Williams entertain at dinner at their quarters prior to the hop Friday evening, and covers will be placed for Captain Richard T. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards, Captain Edwin Aldridge and Mrs. Aldridge, Captain Mark Brunson and Mrs. Brunson, Captain Frederick Irving and Mrs. Irving, and Captain Daniel O'Connell and Mrs. O'Connell, of Fort Benning.

Lieutenant Walter Scott Winn, Jr., and Mrs. Winn entertained last evening at a buffet supper at their quarters in honor of their guest, Mrs. Byron Stewart, of Aurora, Ill., and Miss Dorothy Bartlett, of Washington, D. C., who is the guest of Major Roland Gaugler and Mrs. Gaugler.

General J. D. Parsons and Mrs. Parsons left yesterday after a visit to Brigadier General George E. Estes and Mrs. Estes. General Parsons and Mrs. Parsons are en route from Washington, D. C., to General Parsons' new station in San Francisco, and they plan to visit relatives in Alabama before going to the coast.

Mrs. Bush Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Alston entertained eight guests at dinner at their home on The Prado last evening in compliment to Mrs. Morris Bush, of Birmingham, Ala., the attractive guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hart, at their home on Ivy road.

Mrs. J. C. Baldwin's bridge-tee at her home on Argonne drive yesterday afternoon was another complimentary gesture to Mrs. Bush. Tea was served at the conclusion of the game at the card tables and the guests included eight friends of the hostess.

Mrs. Julian Robinson was hostess at luncheon yesterday, inviting a small group to meet Mrs. Bush.

Cornelia Moore Nursery Children and Their Sponsors Pictured at New Home To Be Opened Next Monday

The accompanying photographs present three prominent Atlanta matrons who are members of the Cornelia Moore Day Nursery Auxiliary, a group of the little tots taken care of by the nursery during the hours that their mothers are employed in the near-by industrial mills. The Cornelia Moore Nursery is one of the three nurseries supported by the Sheltering Arms Association and on next Monday the opening of the new Cornelia Moore Nursery will take place at 403 Washington street. The group of matrons who work zealously throughout the year for its benefit will receive the opening to be in the form of a silver tea. In the upper group are Mrs. Rucker McCarty, left, and Mrs. Jerry Osborne, right. Reading from left to right they are pictured with Lucile Goodwin, Marion Monk, Jack Ward and Louise Zell, showing the children gaily colored picture-books. Mrs. Robert Troutman is photographed in the lower picture with Jack Ward and Mary Helen Ward, who seem to be more attracted by the photographer's camera than the doll baby held by Mrs. Troutman. Photographs by Troy Bennett, staff photographer.

Pi Epsilon Honored

Miss Mary Frances Gray entertains at a dance at her home in Peachtree Heights next Saturday evening in honor of the members of the Pi Epsilon Sorority of Woodberry Hall. Mrs. Joseph Gray and the officers of the sorority, Misses Louise Wright, Rose Cleary, Ruth Layfield, Joyce Robinson will assist in entertaining.

Miss Coffey Feted

BEAUTY BEGINS— When Skin Congestion Ends

Complexion beauty has little chance to show itself when skin congestion is encouraging blackheads, whiteheads, sallowness, muddiness, coarse pores... and even pimples! But oh! how quickly your skin responds and blooms into new beauty when you give it daily deep-pore cleansing with Plough's Cleansing Cream.

DEEP-PORE CLEANSING BANISHES SKIN CONGESTION

This light, non-absorbable cream quickly penetrates deeply into the millions of tiny pores which breathe health and beauty for your skin. It brings every trace of dust, smut and make-up to the surface to be wiped off. Then each pore is free to function normally... to become invisible, as it must if by your skin is to have that creamy, fine-textured appearance every woman wants. Your skin looks and feels immaculately clean, and grows finer, smoother, lovelier every day.

ARSON ATTEMPT LAID TO LUMBER OPERATOR

Greenville, S. C., Man Indicted for Alleged Effort To Burn Macon Plant.

MACON, Ga., Dec. 9.—(P)—D. L. Norris, of Greenville, S. C., owner and operator of a chain of lumber plants throughout the country, including the plant of the Georgia Hardwood Company here, today was indicted by the Bibb county grand jury with H. S. Townsend, an employee in connection with an alleged attempt to burn the local plant last November 8.

The indictment was returned shortly after noon, and charges the two men with arson. Chief Ben T. Watkins said tonight that he had communicated with attorneys representing Norris, and they have indicated that he will come to Macon tomorrow for the purpose of furnishing bond. Townsend, arrested some weeks ago, already is under bond of $2,500 pending trial.

Mr. Norris is president of the Norris Brothers Company, with headquarters in Greenville. The company operates extensively in many parts of the country, and is rated into the millions of dollars, it was said here tonight.

The case was investigated following the discovery of the fire trap under the supervision of State Fire Marshal Sharpe. City detectives co-operated. Gordon Bailey, Macon man, also was indicted on an arson charge in connection with the burning of a dwelling house at 100 Second avenue. He was arrested several weeks ago following an investigation by Deputy Fire Marshal E. E. Egan, with deputies from the office of Sheriff James R. Hicks, Jr., co-operating.

The dwelling was burned on September 1.

FARMER, BUSINESS CONTACTS SOUGHT

ROME, Ga., Dec. 9.—Methods to maintain a closer contact between farmers, business men and bankers will be discussed at a mass meeting here tomorrow.

Sponsors of the meeting said they hoped it would result in solution of problems that affect farmers and business men.

Speakers informed as to the best methods of approaching the problems will be on the program, members of the meeting committee said.

GEORGIA U. GLEE CLUB INCREASES PERSONNEL

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 9.—The 1937 University of Georgia Glee Club chorus will be larger by 15 members than any previous club, Professor Hugh Hodgson, director of the club, has announced.

Numerous requests for engagements of the club are coming in from Georgia towns, according to Professor Hodgson. As yet no definite itinerary has been made but it is certain that a tour of the state will be made during the early spring.

The songs this year, according to Malcolm Lockhart, Augusta, president of the club, are of a more classic nature than in former years.

Weeps as Judge Tells Him to Sentence Self

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 9.—(P)—Thomas G. McDaniels, 36, Waycross, Ga., was given the opportunity today to set his own sentence after pleading guilty to passing a check against insufficient funds.

Lewis Levy, assistant co-prosecutor, told the court that McDaniels had passed worthless checks in various parts of the country.

The prisoner pleaded his acts were the result of dire necessity. He said his wife, living at Cherokee, N. C., recently underwent an operation and that he, too, was ill.

"I needed money," McDaniels said. "What do you think your sentence might be," the court asked.

"I'm sick and need treatment. Maybe a year in the penitentiary might help," the defendant sobbingly replied.

Judge Ryan postponed sentence until Saturday.

PROMINENT ATTORNEY KILLED ACCIDENTALLY

Lyons Lawyer Found Dead After Discharge of Gun in Auto.

LYONS, Ga., Dec. 9.—(P)—Enoch J. Giles, 67, prominent attorney, churchman and civic leader, was found dead at the side of his automobile parked in front of his home with a gunshot wound in his lower abdomen about 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Miss Leila Odum, a neighbor, returning from town, discovered his limp body and called a doctor, who pronounced him dead. The casual examination did not reveal his wound and it was supposed he had died of apoplexy.

The undertaker found the wound. Mr. Giles had been hunting and a bag of birds and his gun, containing a discharged shell, were found in the car. The family was not at home.

Mr. Giles was prominently known throughout this section of the state, where he had distinguished himself as a lawyer. He was for many years president of Toombs County bank. As a member of the Methodist church he had gained prominence as a lay worker and was active in all governmental and civic affairs. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

After investigation by the coroner, who had called in another physician to examine the body, it was declared that an inquest was unnecessary. Giles met his death, the circumstances showed conclusively, they said, by accident in getting out of his automobile.

UNCLE REMUS DAY HELD AT EATONTON

EATONTON, Ga., Dec. 9.—Uncle Remus Day exercises were held here today by the schools of the city, commemorating the 82d birthday anniversary of the noted Georgia author, Joel Chandler Harris.

Mr. Harris, creator of "Uncle Remus," and all the other fascinating characters of the Uncle Remus stories.

An address recalling anecdotes of the private life of Mr. Harris was to have been given by Lucien Harris, Jr., his grandson, but his physician advised him not to.

His address was read by T. M. Callaway, Jr., superintendent of the public schools. It was a delightful collection of tales, read by the writer, of the home life of his distinguished grandfather. It told of the love for rabbits and mockingbirds that marked his life and how he wrote the stories which were to become world classics of children's literature.

Joel Chandler Harris was born at Eatonton. He died on July 3, 1908, when his grandson was only 9 years old.

Colds and Coughs Yield to Calotabs

Medical writers agree that the important point in the treatment of a cold, or cough due to a cold, is to relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thereby preventing serious complications which may follow a neglected cold. To stop this congestion calumel was the accepted and standard remedy until Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablet, was introduced.

Now that science has robbed calomel of its nausea and danger, making it pleasant to take and perfectly safe for general use, over forty million Calotabs are consumed in the U. S. yearly with only the most pleasant and satisfactory results. In millions of homes Calotabs have proven their superiority in the prompt relief of colds and coughs due to colds.

One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a glass of sweet milk or water. No salts necessary. No nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning the congestion has subsided, your cold or cough is relieved, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish—no danger.

Get a family package of Calotabs containing full directions, only thirty-five cents. Trial size, ten cents. At any drug store.—(adv.)

THE SPORTLIGHT

THE RECOMPENSE.

Yes, winter is coming with its snows;
My feet will freeze, and my ears will, too;
So will my hands and neck and nose,
And my finger tips will be turning blue;
But I'll meet the raw gales with a grin
And merrily face the stinging snow,
As old grads now quit writing in—
"Why don't you mention so-and-so?"

"I'm none too keen for the slush and sleet
And the howling north wind's not so nice
As I skid around on a slippery street
When the melting snow turns back to ice;
But I'll take it all with never a scowl
In the peace and calm that I soon must know,
As old grads no more rise and howl—
"Why don't you mention so-and-so?"

Here's another favorite line—"If so-and-so is not on the All-American it will be a joke." So far there have been 127 of these entered by official count.

ANSWERING A QUERY.

"JUST what is it, after all," writes Old Times, "that makes Notre Dame outstanding in football?"

Football's main fundamentals are the fundamentals to an entire squad by one of the greatest of all teachers, academic or athletics—Knut Rockne—assisted by a smart staff.

2.—The combination of time and material—big squads and spring practice.

3.—A brilliant field general—Carideo—to make use of the weapons handed him and his men.

Football's main fundamentals are blocking, tackling, charging and handling the ball (passing and receiving passes). These must be hooked to speed that in turn must be welded into timing.

The plays must be there, but above all they must be able directed. A smart quarterback means more than you might believe. Notre Dame had Harry Stuhldreher and was unbeatable. Stuhldreher passed and ran years ago—defeated 28 to 0 and 18 to 0 by the Army—four defeats in one year, 1928. Then Carideo came on and the answer has been 19 straight.

Carideo can gamble where other quarterbacks can't because he knows his men can function mechanically—can handle the assignment correctly, whether it be blocking an end or tackle or throwing or catching any sort of pass. He could try a lateral on his own 20-yard line because he knew there was little danger from a bad pass or a muffed ball.

And there is this to add—every man on the Notre Dame team knows every other assignment as well as his own—where in 99 cases out of 100 the average college football player doesn't know his own assignments any too well, much less those of the other 10 men.

What no one can explain is how any coach can keep a team tuned up mentally and physically from October 4 to December 7. This again is partly due to the thorough development through more than two months of spring training that relieves the need for the type of all scrambling which kills off so many teams or wears away their keenness for the game. All this means is a combination of several things, which are headed by the three factors that make any great team—a smart coach, good material and the element of time in which to teach and train.

WATCHING WASHINGTON.

THERE seems to be a general feeling among baseball men attending the American league meeting that Connie Mack will have the time of his life heating out Washington next year, if only one or two of Walter Johnson's veterans can hold the old clip.

Johnson has a great set of young pitchers coming on and now are just about ready and he has one of the main finds of the game in Cronin at short, a ball player of top value in every way.

Connie Mack admitted last fall that he would have to bolster up more than one spot with the right man to beat Washington to the wire. And now he has it.

Both Navy and Army will put on versatile attacks, much more so than they have used before. If there is anything like good footing, the crowd will see all the backfield action it is looking for, although the Navy attack will find the Army line from end to end is about as good as any it has met all year.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—(UP)—The fine showing made by Christopher "Bat" Battalino in his workouts for the defense of his featherweight championship against Kid Chocolate, of Cuba, here Friday night, have shortened the odds against the titleholder to 8-5, with "The Kid" still favored.

WARD OUTPOINTED. WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Larry Kaufman, 142-14, a Louisville, Ky., outpointed Tommy Ward, 145, Pittsburgh, in eight rounds here tonight.

HERRERA WINS. PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Tony Herrera, 137-12, Chicago, was given a 10-round decision over Bobby Eddie Anderson, 134, Wyoming, here tonight.

ED KHOURY HONORED. BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Ed Khoury, 215-pound tackle on Louisiana State University football team, tonight was elected captain for 1931.

WOLFE IS WINNER. NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Eddie (Kid) Wolfe, Memphis, here tonight won an easy 10-round decision over Matt Brock, of New Orleans, who broke his opponent's jaw in the verge of a knockout more than once. Wolfe weighed 135-14 and Brock 132-12.

DARTMOUTH LEADER. HANOVER, N. H., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Stanley W. Ulicky, right end on the Dartmouth College football team for two seasons, today was elected captain.

CHUCK COLLINS ILL. CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Notre Dame All-Stars will probably be without the services of Chuck Collins, who broke his arm in a game with the New York Giants. The University of North Carolina coach, a former Notre Dame end, was in the college infirmary today with influenza.

BOYS' High Wins X-Country Race. Boys' High cross-country runners continued their record-setting pace with another victory Tuesday afternoon over the High School team in a series of dual meets. Boys' High scored 18 points against 37 for the Smithies.

COLE OF Boys' High, showed the way over the two and one-half mile course in 14 minutes. Pardee, of Boys' High, was second. Lassiter, of Tech High, was third. Other finishers include Nathan, White and Holmsen, of Boys' High, and Manning, of Tech High, in the order named.

It was announced Tuesday that the annual Boys' High race will be run next Tuesday instead of Friday afternoon. The postponement was due to the Tech High-Riverside game scheduled for 2 o'clock at Spiller field.

CARIDEORANKS WITH GREATEST FIELD GENERALS

Notre Dame Quarterback Leaves Fine Intercollegiate Record Behind.

By George Kirksey.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—(UP)—Leaving an almost unparalleled record in intercollegiate football behind him, Frank Carideo, Notre Dame quarterback, surely must rank among the five greatest field generals in all gridiron history.

Perhaps only Knute Rockne knows how much Carideo's wise decisions in the heat of battle, with only a second to think, contributed to Notre Dame's amazing two-year undefeated record.

Many times during this streak of 19 straight victories Notre Dame has been threatened with a defeat or tie, but always Carideo has brought it through triumphant.

"Has Carideo ever made a mistake in the first play of a game?" "If he has," asked Rockne recently, "I have that's between him and me." Rockne replied sharply.

Undoubtedly Carideo has committed some errors during the past two seasons, but his hair-trigger decisions in a pinch have always overshadowed any minor mistakes.

Once Carideo made up his mind on a certain play of attack he never wavered. For instance, in the Northwestern game with four minutes left to play in the first half, neither team having scored, and Notre Dame backed to its own 9-yard line, Carideo attempted to hold the ball and rush it out if possible, instead of kicking.

On the first play of the second half, the ball rolled over the goal line and was recovered by Northwestern, but the whistle had blown and the play was called back. The next play failed to gain. Still Carideo held to his original decision. He attempted to run from behind his own goal line on the second play, but he was tackled and Northwestern recovered only a few yards from the Notre Dame goal line.

That play almost cost Notre Dame the half, but in the end Carideo drove his team to two touchdowns in the last period. The Irish won, 14-0.

In his actions and mannerisms, Carideo is a replica of Napoleon. He is cocksure, almost to the point of being domineering, driving his team on to victory. He is a born leader.

Carideo's flawless direction of Notre Dame's attack held a crowd of 90,000 almost spellbound as the Irish overcame Southern California, 27-0. When the stocky little Italian, playing his last college game, was taken out of the game in the last period at his request, the crowd rose up in tribute to his gridiron genius.

Even before he entered Notre Dame Carideo showed indications of having a keen football sense. When he was playing on the Dean Academy team, of Franklin, Mass., in 1925, Carideo was made quarterback by Coach Dan Sullivan. After one game at that position Carideo protested against it, but Sullivan told him that he would play quarterback or warm the bench.

During his two-year reign as regular Notre Dame quarterback no player was permitted to overtake him any distance. He was the only player in Notre Dame who played a rival playing out of position or noted some flaw in the team's defense, he reported the fact to Carideo. From this information Carideo always reached his own conclusion.

Carideo almost never carried the ball on a running play from scrimmage. He excelled at place kicking goals, punting, passing, blocking and tackling. He was supreme in his choice of plays, probably the greatest field general since Walter Eckersall's day.

After All, It's Not Such a Bad Idea

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Here's a new All-American football team nomination.

Head Coach Al Sharpe, at Washington University, here, his two assistant, Gale Bullman and Johnny Davis, and James Gould, mid-western football official, went into a huddle today and came out with the following selection:

First team—Notre Dame's starting lineup.
Second team—Notre Dame's "shock troops."
Third team—Notre Dame's third string.
Honorable mention—The rest of Rockne's squad.

NAVY PREPARES FOR ARMY TILT

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Coach "Navy Bill" Ingram professes not to be worrying a great deal about the charity game with the Army at New York on Saturday.

Nevertheless, the Naval Academy is making preparations in far from "anxious game" spirit. Four teams were on the field today, and they went through a scrimmage to the accompaniment of cheers from the Midshipmen in the stands and music from the band.

Ingram used his best backfield with Bauer at quarterback, Lou Kirm and Johnnie, at halfback, and Oscar Hagberg at fullback today, alternating with another having Rusty Williams at quarter, Joe Tschirgi and Tommy Hurley at halfback, and Jack Campbell at fullback. The first named are to start Saturday.

Cadets Take "Hardest" Drill.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 9.—(AP)—With the entire corps of cadets and halfpinks grouped in the Midshipmen's gymnasium, the Army football squad went through one of the hardest scrimmages of the season today in preparation for Saturday's charity game against the Navy.

Plebes put on Navy plays with considerable success. Johnson, plebe halfback, repeatedly bore through the line for substantial gains.

On the attack, Coach Sasse again experimented with the No. 1 back position, which was first filled by Letzelter and then by Sebastian. Both these players are unavailable for the game and Sasse used Frenz and Gladwin in the position. A new formation made its appearance on the field in the drill. Coaches said it had been devised for use against Notre Dame, but weather conditions prevented its use. They hope it will be effective Saturday.

Ed Milne, right end, joined the injured list with a shoulder injury. Trainer Wayne Hauck expects to have him in condition by Saturday.

A number of addresses were made. They included those by the team members, least of whom were those by Coach Thomas and Mehre.

Chancellor Charles M. Snelling assured the team of his regard and affection.

Dean S. V. Sanford paid them a brief tribute. He stressed the fact that all the over-emphasis in football came from men who were years out of college and who demanded a winner each year. He stressed also the fact that undergraduate body was necessary to an institution and that football aided in giving it solidarity and spirit.

STRIB FIGHTS BEST IN HOME OF OPPONENT

Southerner at Ease in Invading Tuffy Griffith's Chicago Backyard.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Stepping into the other fellow's back yard has been a favorite trick of Willie Stribling, the southern heavyweight champion, who has come to Chicago, the home town of Tuffy Griffith, to battle the westside title hope in the most important bout of the year at the stadium next Friday night.

Down through 10 years of boxing Stribling has always been willing to go to his opponent's home town for important fights. On a number of occasions this has been unfortunate for Stribling. Such little things as newspaper sales at the ring-side in the middle of a fight, declaring the home-towner the winner have afforded Stribling much annoyance, particularly when the decision eventually was rendered against him after W. L. Harrison thoroughly beaten the native son.

But still Stribling goes into particular territory to seek his greatest triumphs. In taking Griffith in Chicago, he not only faces the possibility of a partisan crowd, but brings to Griffith the greatest opportunity of the young westsider's career.

Stribling is the leading contender for the heavyweight championship. His 293 victories in 10 years of boxing particularly his knockout victories of Otto Von Porat, Phil Scott and K. O. Christie, have qualified him as a paragon crowd, but brings to Griffith the greatest opportunity of the young westsider's career.

Four Ends Stand Out, Joe Donchess Affirms

Conley, Fessler, Nemecek and Rosenzweig Starred Throughout Hard Season.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This interview with Joe Donchess, Pittsburgh's great All-American end in 1929 and now an assistant coach at the Panther institution, is the first of a series of stories in which famous football stars of the past select for you the stars of the 1930 football season. Stories by Ted Coy, of Y. C.; Joe Bedenk, of Penn State; Ed Weir, of Nebraska, and others will follow.

BY JOE DONCHESS, All-American End—1929.

Written Especially for Central Press and The Atlanta Constitution. Mental capacity, speed and courage are the three essentials of a good end. And if I were picking ends for this year's All-American team I would look to those three points first.

A man's mental capacity first because a good end must have something besides mechanical perfection. He must be an expert diagnostician, primarily on the defense. He must figure his play before smashing into the opposition. An end who crashes into the other fellow blindly may miss everything.

Being with the ball is essential. I mean that besides protecting his own territory he must be ready to go beyond, to cut back at times and make tackles at the other side.

Jerry Nemecek, of New York University, is my idea of an end with great mental capacity and ability to quickly diagnose plays. Jerry also has plenty of courage and he is fast.

Speed, of course, is absolutely essential in an all-star end. He must be able to get down under the punts, be in the open for passes and travel a little faster than the other fellows. A man must have offensive capacity as well as defensive capacity. Ability to cut down the other fellow, run good interference, block passes and above all, ability to outsmart the opposing tackle.

The opposing tackle is generally a much bigger fellow and my all-star end must, therefore, be able to outsmart him. That's the only way he can outplay the opposing tackle. I haven't said much so far on the subject of courage, because it is understood from the start that an end must have courage in great amounts if he is to get anywhere. All of my favorite ends, Wesley Fessler, of Ohio, Nemecek of New York, Tom Conley of Notre Dame and Ted Rosenzweig of Carnegie Tech have plenty of courage.

Penn's two wingmen—Riblett and Burnett—have come in for good notice, especially Burnett for his stellar play against Cornell. Other eastern ends who have received newspaper praise for their work this year include Elliott, of Syracuse, Messenger of Army, Bates of Western Maryland, Eliezwitz of Fordham, Barres of Yale, Yudicky of Dartmouth, and Buckley of Boston College.

Reports from the south are full of praise for Maffett and Stuhldreher of Georgia, Schwartz of Vanderbilt, and Dalrymple of Tulane among others. Other than Fessler, the great Ohio State wingman, Western conference ends receiving mention this season included Baker and Oliphant of Northwestern, Moss of Purdue, Briley of Drake, and Gantenbein of Wisconsin.

Mackell of Washington State's championship eleven and Arbelbide of Southern California showed coast football fans some real end play this year, according to reports from that sector.

COMMEMORATING THE INAUGURAL FLIGHT NEW YORK-ATLANTA MIAMI-PASSINGER SERVICE DECEMBER 10, 1930

Drawing North and South 500 Miles Closer Together

The tablet pictured was struck in bronze to commemorate the extension of air passenger service to Atlanta. Miami and St. Petersburg services will begin on January 1st. Over 10,000 miles of daily flying will then be covered by 40 planes of the mail and passenger schedules of this Company. The new links of Eastern Air Transport will join a great network of national and international airways—including the Southern Transcontinental to the Pacific Coast, connections with West Indies and Latin America, and service over the Eastern Seaboard via New York and Boston to Canada.

Eastern Air Transport has flown the United States mails more than 3,000,000 miles, with a notable record of efficiency. In addition to 24 mail planes, a fleet of 16 new and luxurious passenger planes is fully equipped with precision instruments, latest scientific improvements and controls. An organization trained by experience in every detail of air transport, covers the entire extent of this Company's lines.

INSTALLMENT XV.

"It's a funny thing," Peter observed. "That's the idea that almost everybody has. They think we can say, 'pouf,' here's your news, and there it is, like a rabbit pulled out of a hat. Gee, if we could go around creating things out of our omnipotence, we'd be doing it for a living, instead of slaving our lives away trying to make deadlines. Nobody can make facts if they aren't there. The rabbit's got to be in the hat, before we can pull it out. All I want to do is to find the rabbit."

"But there ain't no rabbit!"

"Maybe not," Peter acknowledged with an air of unconcern. "But give me the fun of hunting for it, anyway."

"Well, what is it you want to do? I don't mind telling you I'm grateful to you for bringing in Prudence, to check Everett's story. I sort of hated it, having to keep him in jail, just because I couldn't run across nobody that'd seen him."

"First of all, I'd like to look around the lodge a little more."

"Well, I ain't stopping you," the sheriff drawled.

"Then I'd like to have my camera man take photographs of the shells and also of the bullets taken from the body," Peter, having no toothpicks, checked off the items on his fingers.

"You newspaper folks always have to have pictures to make your stories look interesting, don't you? 'X' marks the spot," and all that sort of thing," the sheriff agreed indulgently.

"We'll get along without the 'X' this time," Peter let it go at that. "But there's one other thing. I suppose the pistol is still in your possession?"

"It sure is."

"Well, I want you to let me fire one of the bullets that are left in it."

"So that's how it is?" The sheriff's pale eyes lighted. "I thought you was lettin' me off altogether too easy, askin' so polite for things that don't matter one way or another. That pistol, young feller, is bound to be 'people's exhibit A.' A nice picture I'd make, lettin' it be tampered with."

"But it would still be just as good an exhibit as it ever was," Peter argued amiably. "You've already photographed the fingerprints, so you don't need it for that. And I'll let you have the bullet back when I'm through with it," he added with a fine air of magnanimity.

Peter strove to maintain an expression of detached indifference under the probing keenness of the sheriff's gaze. But his gray eyes shone with eagerness behind their thick-lensed glasses.

"You seem to think it's almighty important that you should fire off that gun," the sheriff said meditatively.

"It is important," Peter agreed earnestly. "And it's irregular—I know that. It may not come to anything. If it doesn't, I won't tell you, because you'll be just where you were before. If it does, it will mean something to the defense—and I know you're not so very keen about helping the defense."

The sheriff chuckled—a dry, rattling chuckle, like the rattle of dead leaves in a wind.

"You're pretty smart, young feller," he said with a mingling of amusement and admiration on his slow, wrinkled face. "You got my number—knowin' I'd have to be extra fair about givin' the defense every chance just because I'm convinced in my own mind that the lady is guilty as hell. And I notice you ain't said a word about my owing you something for getting me out of a hole by bringin' in that alibi."

"I know I didn't have to," Peter grinned.

"Well, you win." The sheriff unlocked a drawer in the side of the desk and laid the pistol in Peter's outstretched hand. "Go and shoot it, if it will make you any happier. But don't go hitting anybody—and mind you bring it back."

"I won't—I will, respectively," Peter promised. "Andrews—that's the camera man—came last night. I'll send him right in. I suppose you've locked the lodge. Now if you'll just give me the key."

"You ain't wasting any time, I see. I guess you're afraid I might get sensible and change my mind." The sheriff's face was solemn, but Peter thought he detected the glimmer of a smile in the small, keen eyes, over which the yellow, wrinkled eyelids blinked with a deceptive lassitude.

With the pistol and key clinking faintly together where he had dropped them nonchalantly into his coat pocket, Peter sought Andrews, who waited, with the experienced patience of the camera man, outside the sheriff's office. A tall tripod was propped between his knees, and a large black box rested on the floor beside his feet.

"That won't make a picture," he protested disgustedly, when Peter had given him the directions. "Who do you think wants to look at a bullet and a shell? Unless we could get the dame to be holding it in her hand," he suggested hopefully. "Now if she'd stand for it, that'd make a swell action picture!"

"Two bullets and two shells," Peter corrected him firmly. "Just as close up as you can get them so they can be enlarged."

"But you got to have human interest—"

"I'm the human that has the interest," Peter informed him. "Peter had got funny about asking the girl to hold them, either. Have a heart!"

Is she good looking? Andrews asked sharply. If Peter began letting a "heart" stand in the way of an action picture like that, a fat chance the Herald would have of getting any good "art." "Honest, that's a swell idea. We could caption it—"

"Have a heart for the sheriff, I meant," Peter explained, witheringly. "Those bullets are state's exhibits, you luncheon. We don't want to mix 'em up with a leg show. I want the best shots you can get of them, and that's enough for a matter of fact," he added mollifyingly, "she is good looking."

"Well, that's lucky, for once," Andrews sighed over the cruel fate which all too often, in his experience, had declined to unite good looks and crime.

"What more, she'll stand for a picture, and so will the husband, if you tell them I said so." Peter declared, as one who holds out candy to a child.

Andrews brightened.

"Gee, that's fine. But don't you forget those bullets and shells. Then you come up and meet me at the lodge. It's barely possible there may be something else for you there. You'll have to wait unless you can catch a lift—I'm taking Bossy."

"Oh, say! And lug all this stuff?" It's darned heavy," Andrews said aggrievedly. "Why don't you wait for me?"

"Because we're working on a daily paper," Peter responded, with heartless disregard of Andrews' woebegone expression. "Anyway, the exercise will be good for you—maybe you'll lose a few pounds." With a feint of dodging Andrews' upraised camera, he made grinning exit.

Andrews, however, was not the only one to take some exercise that morning, and there was no grin on Peter's face as he crawled laboriously on hands and knees through the closest thickets back to the lodge.

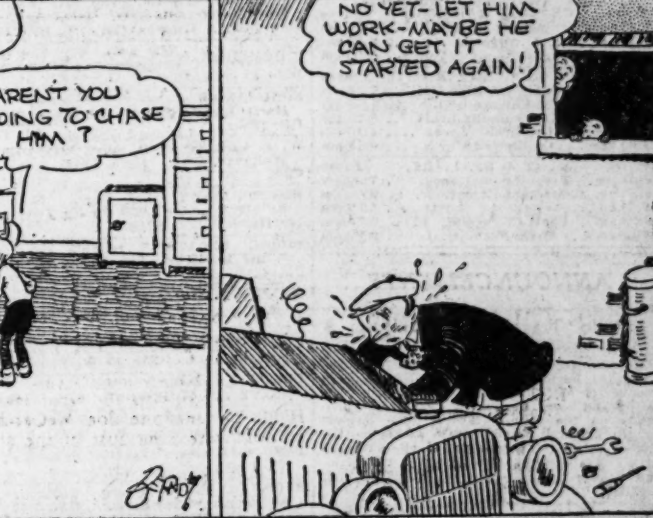

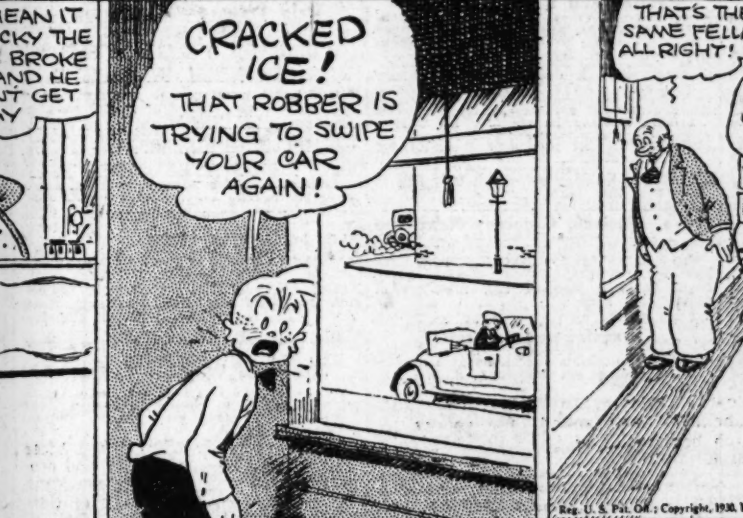

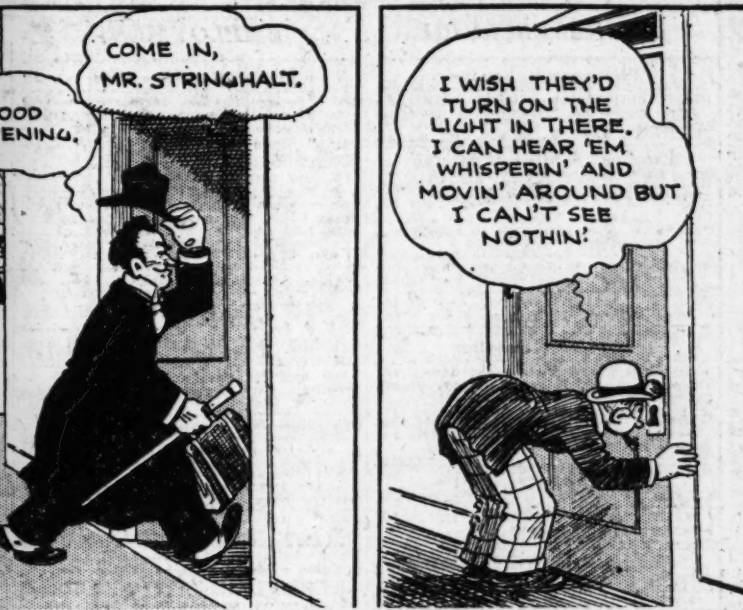

The sharp ends of stones prodded his knees, thorny twigs reached out to scratch his face as he bent close to the ground, and the low shrubs, swinging back as he pushed them aside, which had gathered on the underbrush, and his black hair, in which broken twigs and leaves had lodged, resembled an unfinished and poorly constructed bird's nest.
